Introduction

1812 to 1832: The Beginning

Manley Tillett Blanchard was born 15 April 1812¹ in western Kentucky to Jacob Blanchard. His mother was possibly a woman named Mary whose surname was unknown (see Appendix A, B, C for discussion). The U.S. President was James Madison. In 1812 the counties of western Kentucky were near what had been Chickasaw tribal lands. Growing to manhood near former Native American land may well have helped when Manley, often referred to as M.T., homesteaded on former Sac and Fox tribal lands in Iowa Territory about thirty years later.

1832-1840: Kentucky, Illinois and Iowa Frontiers

Manley first appeared in civil records with the spelling, Blancett, when he married Elizabeth (Betsy) Hill in Christian county, Kentucky on 11 October 1832.² Elizabeth was born in western Kentucky about 1808.³ After Manley and Elizabeth's marriage the couple headed to Schuyler county (later Brown county), Pea Ridge township in western Illinois. In all likelihood they joined Elizabeth's brother James Hill and his wife Nancy Temple as well as Manley's brother Wade Hampton Blanchard and his wife Mary Pille (see Appendix A). Wade had married Mary in 1830 in Morgan county, Illinois (Morgan county next to Schuyler county). James Hill and his wife Nancy were also in Morgan county according to the 1830 US census.^{4,5} Of note, Manley's father Jacob had been the bondsman (surety) for James Hill and Nancy's (Temple) marriage in April of 1824 in Christian county.⁶ It appeared likely that after the marriage of Manley and Elizabeth (1832), they joined James Hill and Wade in Pea Ridge township, Schuyler county by sometime in 1833 since their daughter Sarah was born there in January of 1834.⁷ This section of Illinois was called the "American Bottom." American Bottom was a colloquialism for the alluvial plain of the Mississippi River and Schuyler county was one county east of the Mississippi river and alongside the Illinois river. By May of 1836 Manley, Wade and James Hill all had land patents in Pea Ridge township, Schuyler county.⁸ Patent records disclosed that Manley lived adjacent to Elizabeth's brother, James Hill, and not far from the land of his brother Wade.⁹ Wade had the largest number of Pea Ridge township patents: Five patents on about 330 acres of land.¹⁰ A history of Schuyler, later to become Brown county, documented Manley and Wade's presence in 1836 and noted that they were early pioneers in Pea Ridge township.¹¹

In October of 1836 Manley's second child, Robert was born in Schuyler county, Illinois.¹² But, life on the frontier of western Illinois did not work out for Manley and Elizabeth because they appeared next on the 1838 tax rolls back home in Christian county, Kentucky.¹³ Manley paid a poll tax on four horses. Manley and Elizabeth welcomed their third child, Rebecca in late February of 1838 while in Kentucky.¹⁴

In sum, the 1830s are a critical time in Manley and Elizabeth's young lives. They married in Christian county, Kentucky in 1832, next homesteaded in Schuyler county, Illinois by 1833 and finally returned to Christian county by early 1838. But they did not stay long. Manley and Elizabeth left Kentucky sometime after Rebecca's birth and appeared in Van Buren county, Iowa Territory by late in 1838. The Iowa census of 1856 seemed to support this conclusion because Manley indicated he came to Iowa in 1838.¹⁵ Unfortunately, Manley's name does not appear on the 1838 Van Buren county, Iowa Territory census but James Hill's name appeared.¹⁶ The absence on the census could be explained by the family's arrival after census enumeration.

1840-1846: The Iowa Territory

The beginning of the 1840s found the Blanchard family and the Hill family side-by-side on the 1840 US census page for Van Buren county, Iowa Territory.¹⁷ (The census spelling of the surname was BLANCHARD.) The beginning of the 1840s also meant a fourth child was welcomed into the Blanchard family. Christena was born in July of 1840---and out-lived all her siblings and she died at 91 years-of-age.¹⁸

Two years after Christena's birth, Manley and Elizabeth had their fifth child, Willis (Willie) who was born in September of 1842.¹⁹

By May of 1843 Manley had presumably moved from Van Buren county to Wapello county. Wapello county had been officially opened to settlers on the 1st of May in 1843 upon the conclusion of a treaty with the Sac and Fox Tribes. Manley and James Hill were early settlers and filed claims for patents next to each other on many acres of good farmland on Honey Creek in Pleasant township.^{21,22} Today, the farmland is located close to the Wapello/Jefferson county boundary and just north of Highway 34/163 along Honey Creek.

Wade Blanchard was in Iowa in 1843 too because Wade's son Thomas was born in Iowa that year.²³ Wade joined Manley and James and filed a claim for a land patent in Wapello County.²⁴ In Wade's case, the patent was west of Pleasant township near present day Ottumwa, Iowa. What Wade did with his patent or how long he stayed in Wapello county was not clear but by 1847 Wade and his family were back in Brown county, Illinois to welcome the birth of their daughter Mary.²⁵ Wade died four years later in Brown county, Illinois.²⁶ By Wade's death the family surname spelling had gone from Blancet on his marriage license in 1830 to Blansett on his 1851 probate documents.

In 1844 Manley and Elizabeth's sixth child, Martha Anne, was born on the 27th of November in Pleasant township, Wapello county, Iowa Territory.²⁷ By Iowa Statehood on 28th of December in 1846 the Blanchard and Hill families were in Pleasant township, Wapello county.²⁸ Days after statehood, Manley 'officially' purchased his patents for a total of 240 acres on January 1, 1847. At the same time, James Hill purchased his patents for 400 acres on adjacent land. Of note, James was to remain on the land he patented until just before his death in 1889. He was buried at nearby Yampa-Sterner Grove cemetery. In the same cemetery are the graves of Manley and Elizabeth (Hill) Blanchard as well as James' wives Nancy (Temple) and Elizabeth (Hamlett).²⁹ As it turned out, the final resting place for the families was only a few miles from their 1843 land patents in Pleasant township, Wapello county, Iowa Territory.

1846 to 1883: Iowa Statehood and the Death of Elizabeth Hill

After Iowa Statehood in 1846, Manley and Elizabeth welcomed three more children; namely, their seventh, Matilda (January of 1847),³⁰ the eighth, Jacob (November of 1848),³¹ and finally the ninth, Arabelle Geneva (May of 1853).³² The date by location list below covered from Iowa Statehood to Elizabeth's death in 1883.

 1883 Death of Manley's wife Elizabeth Hill, burial at Yampa-Sterner Cemetery, Pleasant township

On the 20th of July in 1883 Manley's wife Elizabeth (Hill) Blanchard died.³³ She probably died in Pleasant township but she may have died in Eldon, Washington township, Wapello county. Why the uncertainty? On the one hand, Elizabeth and Manley are together on their farm in Pleasant township during the 1880 US census but on the other hand a newspaper report from September of 1883 placed Manley in Eldon.^{34,35} So, it was possible that after the 1880 US census and before Elizabeth's death in July of 1883, they moved to Eldon. Nevertheless, Manley's wife of 51 years died in late July of 1883. At the time of Elizabeth's death at 75 years-of-age, three of her children had also passed away, namely Robert (1854), Willis (1868) and Martha (Morrison, 1877). Elizabeth was buried in Yampa-Sterner Grove Cemetery alongside her children.³⁶ At this point in the discussion it was important to note that by the time of Elizabeth's death, she and Manley had become very successful farmers. On the 1880 US census for agriculture their farm was valued at over $12,000 and covered some 500 acres. The farm employed three men and their help was needed because the farm had beef cattle, dairy cows, horses, mules, sheep, swine, poultry as well as a variety of crops.³⁷

1883 to 1895: Marriage to Anna Indiana McElroy

Manley was not a widower for long. In October of 1883 he married Anna Indiana McElroy in Ottumwa, Iowa at the First Presbyterian Church.³⁸ Indiana was 29 and Manley was 71. Indiana was born in Indiana in 1854 as her parents journeyed from Wood county, West Virginia (married there in 1853³⁹) to Boone county in central Iowa. The family was on the 1856 Iowa census in Boone, Boone county and Indiana's father, James McElroy, listed minister as an occupation. However, four years later (1860 US census) the family was in Des Moines township, Jefferson county and her father listed farmer as an occupation and importantly the family was not far from her father's brother and sister in Henry county.⁴⁰ In Jefferson county, Indiana attended school and learned to read and write. She was likely helped by her parents because they could read and write.

At some point in her life, Indiana suffered the loss of a hand in a sawmill accident, but she seems to have overcome the handicap. Indiana's grand-daughter, Marjorie (Blanchard) Streeby recalled watching Indiana peel potatoes and open string beans with one hand. According to Indiana's youngest son Asa, the loss of a hand did not stop his mother from teaching school.⁴¹

The date by location list below covered from Manley Tillett and Indiana McElroy's year of marriage until Manley's death.

1883 A few weeks before the marriage to Indiana, Manley won a prize for draft horse and colt at the Wapello county fair. He lived in Eldon, Washington township, Wapello county, Iowa

1896 Probate of Manley Tillett's Will in Van Buren county, Iowa

The marriage between Manley and Indiana lasted twelve years. When Manley died on the 16th of December in 1895⁴² in Village township, Van Buren county, the couple had welcomed six children to the family; namely, James (1884),⁴³ Edith (1886),⁴⁴ Cleveland (1888),⁴⁵ Emory (1889),⁴⁶ Asa (1891),⁴⁷ and finally Mary (1893).⁴⁸ Unfortunately, two of the children did not survive infancy (Emory and Mary). They are buried in Iowaville Cemetery (Village township, Van Buren county).

1895 to 1932: Life After Manley Tillet for Anna Indiana

When Manley died in 1895, Indiana was 41 years-of-age and had become a single parent with four young children: James was eleven, Edith was nine, Cleveland was seven and Asa was four years-of-age. Manley left his wife the farm property. (Note: Indiana sold the farm four years later and bought another farm.)^{49,50} But Indiana was not alone on the farm with her young children. She had the support of her 'live-in' mother, Clarinda, and her brother Hezekiah.⁵¹ Indiana lived on a farm until about 1908 when moved to the city of Eldon, Washington township, Wapello county.⁵² In Eldon she lived in (and owned) at least three houses according to the 1910,⁵³ 1920⁵⁴ and 1930⁵⁵ US census. The date by location list below covered from Manley's death in 1895 until Indiana's death in 1932.

1932 Death of Anna Indiana (McElroy) Blanchard in Eldon, Washington township, Wapello county, Iowa; Burial at Iowaville Cemetery in Village township, Van Buren county, Iowa

Indiana's obituary in the Ottumwa Courier as well as her Iowa death certificate noted that she passed away in Eldon, Iowa on the 27th of February in 1932 at 9PM of a cerebral stroke.^{56,57} She was a few days short of her 78th birthday. She had come to Iowa as an infant and now she was buried 77 years later at the Iowaville Cemetery alongside her parents and children. The hillside Cemetery is located on a bluff that provides a panoramic view of the Des Moines River valley--her home throughout most of her life.

2. Wade Hampton was born about 1810 in Christian county, Kentucky and died in Brown county, Illinois in 1851. He was married to Mary Pille (Pile, 1814-1876) and the couple had nine children but only five children reached adulthood. In most cases the children used the surname spelling of Blansett. The children were: Julia Ann (1831-1855); Joseph (1837-1858); Emma (1841-1866); Thomas (1843-1863); and Lewis Hampton (1850-1924).

3. Mary (Polly) was born 1814 in Christian county, Kentucky and died there on the 2nd of July in 1861. She was married to Murdock McIntosh (1806-1890) and the couple had nine children that reached adulthood. The children were: Laura (1833-1860); Felix (1837-1907); Martha (1840-1924); Lydia (1840-1910); Mahala (1844-1895); Virginia (1845-1924); Christina (1846-1888); John (1848-1918); and Moses (1850-1934).

She was married to John Alexander McIntosh (1808-1858) and the couple had thirteen children that reached adulthood. The children were: John (1833-1857); Mary (1835-1911); Wade Hampton (1835-1927); Angus (1844-1892); Manley Tillett (1845-1893); Murdock (1845-1918); Mahala (1847-1922); Latitia (1852-1932); Nancy (1852-1914); Allen (1853-1880); Daniel (1853-1888); Rora (1856-1931); and Rance (1857-1933).

Paternal Grandparents

It seemed possible that Manley Tillett's paternal grandfather was John Blanchet Sr. of North Carolina. Manley's paternal grandmother was unknown.

Maternal Grandparents

Manley Tillett's maternal grandparents are unknown.

Elizabeth Hill

Parents

Elizabeth's father was possibly James Hill Sr. (abt 1760-?) and her mother was unknown. Elizabeth's brother was James Hill Jr., the same James Hill that accompanied Manley and Elizabeth to western Illinois (homesteaded next to Wade Hampton Blanchard and James Hill in Pea Ridge Township, Brown county, Illinois) and then to Van Buren county, Iowa Territory in the late 1830s. James was buried next to Manley and Elizabeth at Yampa-Sterner's Grove cemetery in Pleasant township, Wapello county, Iowa.

Siblings

1. James Hill was born in Kentucky about 1804 and died in Pleasant township, Wapello county, Iowa on 4 September 1889. He married Nancy Temple (1805-1855) in Christian county, Kentucky. James and Nancy had seven children reach adulthood: John (1832-1909); Margaret (1832-1865); William (1835-1903); Andrew Jackson (1841-1896);

James (1842-1863); Sarah (1847-1929); and George (1849-?). Nancy died in 1855 and James then married Elisabeth Hamlett (1819-1892) in Wapello county, Iowa. James and Elisabeth had two children reach adulthood: Mary Louisa (1856-1935) and Clarissa (1860-1935). The marriage ended in divorce.

Paternal Grandparents

Elizabeth' Hill's paternal grandparents are unknown beyond the surname Hill.

Maternal Grandparents

Elizabeth's maternal grandparents are unknown.

Anna Indiana McElroy

Parents

Indiana's father was James B. McElroy. He was born in West Middleton, Washington county, Pennsylvania on the 8th of May in 1810. He died in Eldon, Wapello county, Iowa on 20 October, 1865 of bilious fever.

Indiana's mother was Clarinda (Mary) Conner. She was born in West Virginia (earlier Virginia) in or about Wood county on 25 February 1830 and died in Village township, Van Buren, Iowa on the 6th of January in 1897. (The Iowa 1895 census confirmed the West Virginia birthplace.) Indiana had two brothers and a sister. Her brothers were John Wesley and Hezekiah. Her sister was Keziah Mary.

Siblings

1. John Wesley was born about 1857 in Des Moines township, Jefferson county, Iowa. He married Marcilla Williams (1861-?) and the couple had two children. The children were: Manda B. born about 1861 (possibly Amanda) and John William (Willie) born about 1884.

2. Hezekiah was born in 1860 in Des Moines township, Jefferson county, Iowa. He died the 6th of August in 1905 in Ottumwa, Iowa of T.B. Possibly the cause of death for his father and paternal grandfather. It appeared that he never married.

3. Keziah Mary was born in Eldon, Wapello county in 1863. (In the Bible, Keziah was one of Job's daughters.) Mary married Frank Cooper (1860-?). The couple had one child: Edward Franklin (1882-1946) and then Frank Cooper disappeared from the records.

Paternal Grandparents

Indiana's grandfather was Archibald McElroy. He was born in County Down, Ireland in 1776. He died in West Middleton, Washington county, Pennsylvania in 1826. Archibald was a Methodist-Episcopal circuit rider or log cabin preacher and church records documented his circuit activities as well as his death. Indiana's grandmother was Sarah Barton. She was born in New Jersey about 1780. She died about 1814 in Cross Creek, Jefferson, Ohio.

Maternal Grandparents

Indiana's maternal grandparents are unknown beyond the surname Conner. The family likely lived in or near what was then Wood county, Virginia, now West Virginia. The 1895 Iowa census for Clarinda (McElroy) indicated West Virginia as her birthplace. In addition, Iowa and federal census records completed by Clarinda claimed her father was born in Scotland and her mother in Virginia (likely West Virginia).

Appendix A Questions and answers¹

Prepared by Jay Blanchard (great-grandson Blanchard-McElroy).
Gilbert Arizona, 4 January 2021.

Before beginning the discussion of three questions there are at least two problems that have challenged Blanchard genealogy researchers interested in Manley Tillett and his family. The problems are the various Blanchard surname spellings and the lack of official records about the Blanchards especially in the frontier days of Kentucky (1810-1850).

First problem, historically there are several spellings of the surname Blanchard across various families and even more confusingly across records for the same individual in a family. For example, in two Kentucky records, Manley's name was spelled BLANCETT and BLANSET. In one Illinois record it was spelled BLANSETT. It was not until Manley reached Iowa that the BLANCHARD surname spelling emerged. There are other examples of Blanchard spellings in early 19th century America and they include: Blaut, Blancet, Blanchet, Blanchett, Blanchit, Blansit, Blanshet, Blanshard, Blanshett and Blansheat.

Second problem, there are only a few official records for early 19th century frontier families. These families lived on small, rural patches of land often alongside tribal lands. Their only encounter with official records would be land patents, deeds, taxes, militia membership, marriages, or other judicial/legal matters. Their signatures would have been an X and information would be recorded by literate officials or clergy. That was the case for Manley and his first wife, Elizabeth Hill, neither could read or write.

First question. Who was Manley's father and mother? With regard to the father, it was Jacob Blanchard. Jacob was born in about 1767 in North Carolina possibly in Cumberland county later to become Moore county.² Jacob died in Christian county, Kentucky sometime before the end November of 1850. The 1851 probate of his will acknowledged his wife Mary (common nickname Polly) and three children living nearby: Jacob Jr., Mary, Christena. (Of note, to avoid confusion, Mary mother=M, daughter=D.) Before Jacob's death, the 1850 US census indicated that he was 83 years-of-age and his wife Mary-M was 82. He was a farmer with $150 of net worth and lived next to his son, Jacob Jr. He was law-abiding and was not involved in any legal disputes. He also owned 50 acres of low-quality land which was transferred to his wife upon his death and later sold. The land was directly on the border of Christian and Hopkins counties near the headwaters of the Tradewater River. No other children are mentioned in the probate documents. Gail Jackson Miller, a Kentucky genealogist, has suggested that since Jacob had few resources, there would be little reason to mention his children beyond those that lived nearby.

In the absence of Manley's name in Jacob's probate documents, what evidence supported the claim that Jacob was Manley's father? The most convincing evidence was the 1883 Iowa marriage record for Manley and Anna Indiana McElroy. The record clearly identified Jacob as Manley's father. In addition, all subsequent records by Indiana and her children identified Jacob. There were other more associative sources of evidence that linked Manley to Jacob and his family. First, Jacob's daughter Christena named a son, Manley Tillett. This was not a common 19th century frontier name. Second, Manley named two daughters Christena and Mary as well as a son Jacob. Finally, there was the association between Jacob's home in Christian county and the location and timing of his children's marriages: Jacob Jr., Mary-D, and Christena were all married in Christian county at about the same time---and so was Manley.

Who was Manley's mother? Manley's mother was possibly a woman named Mary (surname unknown). Why possibly? There was a problem with the evidence. Clearly Mary-M was identified as Jacob's wife in his probate documents. She was also identified as Jacob's wife on the Christian county death record for their daughter Mary-D. Nevertheless, despite these facts the problem was her age. Mary-M would have been 44 years-of-age when Manley was born, 46 when Mary-D was born and finally about 50 when Christena was born. These are not impossible ages for motherhood but improbable ages. This suggested the possibility that someone else was the mother of Jacob's children. This also suggested the possibility that Mary-M had children from a previous marriage and could explain the Blanchard family reunion notes suggestive of stepsiblings for Manley. It could also explain Jacob's relationship with the Temple sisters (Nancy, Winny). He provided marriage surety bonds for each. In short, the relationship might mean that the Temple sisters were Mary's-M daughters and therefore Jacob's stepdaughters. It might also mean Mary-M had stepchildren from Jacob's previous marriage.

Second question. Where was Manley born? Manley was probably born in western Kentucky. Current evidence has not pinpointed a county. Obviously, Manley's birthplace depended upon the location of his father in 1812 and the location of Jacob was unknown from about 1808 (the year of Jacob Jr's birth in Tennessee) to 1820. The first official appearance of Manley's father in Kentucky was on the 1820 US census for Trigg county. Trigg was a new county (formed in 1820) and was drawn from Christian and Caldwell counties. The age by gender categories for Jacob's 1820 US census data listed two males under 10 years-of-age, three males 10-16, two females under 10 and one female 16-26. The categories also included one male and one female of 45 years-of-age and upwards. Judging by the subsequent US census age data for Jacob (i.e., 1830, 1840) the male and female are Jacob and Mary-M. This was confirmed on the 1850 US census when Mary was named as Jacob's wife.

Jacob and the family did not stay in Trigg county for long. Jacob left Trigg county by 1823 and appeared on the Christian county tax lists: He had moved a short distance from northeastern Trigg to northwest Christian county. Jacob remained in Christian county for the rest of his life. (Of note, in 1819 a 'Jacob Blanchard' appeared on the tax rolls in Logan county. At that time period several Blanchard families lived in Logan county and could have been Manley's relatives but no family associations are yet apparent).

So, what evidence supported the Kentucky birthplace claim? Manley's second wife, Indiana, consistently maintained in census and family records that Manley was born in Kentucky and it was so stated on his death certificate. In addition, Manley's daughters with Elizabeth Hill maintained their father was born in Kentucky on the first census questionnaire that identified father's birthplace (1870 US census). Only Manley's son, Jacob, indicated another state (North Carolina), however, on the next US census he indicated North Carolina.

Unfortunately, there has been confusion about the Kentucky birthplace? Why? On various census Manley identified three states as his birthplace: South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia. For any of these three states there would be a problem. The problem was the logistics of travel in frontier America of the early 19th century. In about 1808 Jacob was in Tennessee for the birth of his son Jacob Jr., therefore in order to validate Manley's claim of his birthplace in South Carolina, North Carolina or Virginia, Manley's parents would have had to journey from Tennessee between 1808 and 1812 to one of the three states. In one of those states Manley would have been born in 1812. Then Jacob and the family would have journeyed back to western Kentucky by 1814 to welcome the birth of Mary-D. Journeys like these would be possible in the early 19th century but not probable for frontier families without much in the way of funds to support the journeys. The most likely 'journey' scenario would have Jacob and his family moving from Tennessee after the birth of Jacob Jr. (about 1808) to western Kentucky for the birth of Manley (1812). A search of the 1810 US Kentucky census did not find Jacob in western Kentucky.⁴ This suggested that Jacob took the family from Tennessee to Kentucky after the 1810 US Tennessee census and before Manley was born in April of 1812. Unfortunately, a search of the reconstructed 1810 US census for Tennessee found no sign of Jacob Blanchard.

Looking specifically at each of the three states, support for South Carolina came from the presence of a 'Jacob Blanchard' in Kershaw District, South Carolina on the 1800 US census. (Note: Family reunion notes suggested South Carolina too.) But the South Carolina 'Jacob Blanchard' was not likely Manley's father because this man was between 16-25 years-of-age. By 1800 Jacob, would have been 33. In addition, there was not a matching Jacob Blanchard on the 1790 or 1810 US census for South Carolina. Therefore, without additional evidence the South Carolina birthplace was not likely Manley's birthplace.⁵

Could Manley have been born in North Carolina? The North Carolina 1790, 1800, 1810 US census do not contain an age matching Jacob Blanchard (or various spellings). Jacob would have been about 23-, 33- and 43 years-of-age across these US census decades. There are Blanchard families (or various spellings) in North Carolina during these three decades, but no evidence of a Jacob. Therefore, without additional evidence the North Carolina birthplace was not likely Manley's birthplace.

Could Manley have been born in Virginia? Various early Virginia state census do not contain a Jacob Blanchard (or various spellings) nor does the 1800 US census. Therefore, without additional evidence the Virginia birthplace was not likely Manley's birthplace. As an historical note, North Carolina was part of Virginia.

In sum, it remained a mystery why Manley offered South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia as his birthplace. There was never any mystery about the birthplace of Manley's first wife, Elizabeth Hill, it was always Kentucky. The observant reader might well wonder why Manley had not offered Tennessee as his birthplace. His brother Jacob Jr. was born there a few years before Manley's birth. But Manley never did. As noted earlier, a search for his father Jacob in the reconstructed 1810 US census for Tennessee found no sign of Jacob.

Third question. Who was Wade Hampton Blanchard? Wade was likely Manley's brother. However, before beginning an explanation there has been confusion over the spelling of Wade's surname. On his first appearance in official records at his marriage in Morgan county, Illinois in 1830, Wade's surname was spelled Blancet: One of several surname spellings used by Jacob and his family. However, by the date of Wade's death twenty-one years later the surname was spelled Blansett.

What evidence supported the conclusion that Wade was Manley's brother? First, a bit of background. After Manley's marriage in October of 1832, he and Elizabeth (Hill) traveled to western Illinois and settled in Pea Ridge Township in Schuyler county by 1833 and their first child,

Sarah, was born there in January of 1834. Elizabeth's brother James Hill and his family had arrived several years earlier in the adjacent county, Morgan, and were enumerated on the 1830 US census. It should be noted that James Hill and his wife (Nancy Temple) had married in 1824 in Christian county and Manley's father Jacob had provided the marriage surety bond (see, reference no. 3). By 1830 Wade was also in Morgan county because he married Mary Pille (Pile) that year. Illinois land patent records from the early 1830s indicated that Manley, Wade and James Hill had all filed patents in Schuyler county. The land patents were in Pea Ridge township. Manley's and James Hill's patents were next to each other and Wade's was a short distance away. The closeness between land patents at about the same time period could only suggest one thing: Evidence of a close association between the three. A history of Schuyler county also documented Manley's and Wade's presence in Pea Ridge township by 1836 and noted that they were "early pioneers."

As might be expected, Manley's relationship with Wade does not end in Illinois, it continued in Iowa. By 1843 Wade and his family were in Iowa because Wade's son Thomas was born there. Iowa land patent evidence indicated that Manley, James Hill and Wade were all in Wapello county at the same time. Wade Hampton filed a patent for land in Wapello County just east of Ottumwa, Iowa along the Des Moines River. Manley and James filed for patents further east of Ottumwa near the Wapello-Jefferson county boundary. What Wade did with his patent was not clear but by 1847 Wade and his family were back in Brown county, Illinois to welcome the birth of their daughter Mary. Wade Hampton died in 1851 in Brown county, Illinois and his will was probated there. The final piece of evidence for the Manley and Wade relationship came from family names. Manley's sister, Christena, named a son, Wade Hampton and as noted earlier, she also named a son Manley Tillett. These were not common frontier names and the repetition in families also suggested a close association.

² The speculation about the birthplace of Jacob, Manley's father, was based on several items of evidence. The first evidence came from surname spellings. North Carolina genealogy records noted two predominate spellings of Blanchard. They were versions of BLANCHARD and versions of BLANC(H)ET: Jacob was associated with versions of the latter. Therefore, it was reasonable to have assumed that Jacob's family in North Carolina would have used similar versions too. There were families in the 1760s to 1790s with the Blanchet spelling (or versions). But where in North Carolina? The second item of evidence suggested where in North Carolina. Jacob's daughters married the McIntosh brothers. Jacob's family and the McIntosh family lived close to each other in Kentucky. Records for the McIntosh family indicated that they were from Moore county, North Carolina. Evidence from the 1790 US census for Moore county (Fayette District, pp. 42-44) listed eleven McIntosh families and three Blanchet families (John Sr., John Jr., Robert). Not surprisingly the census also included two Temple families (Dickson, Lewis), one James Hill family as well as Mary McIntosh (head of household without a family). The surnames of these North Carolina families are all associated with Jacob and his family in Kentucky. This cluster of these associated surnames on the 1790 US census for North Carolina suggested that Jacob was born in Moore county, North Carolina. Moore county was formed from Cumberland county in 1784 and Jacob was born in 1767. Therefore, the best available evidence pointed toward Cumberland county as his birthplace.

³ There was cause for speculation about Jacob's relationship to Nancy Temple and her sister Winny (see Appendix C). Jacob provided the marriage surety bond for both. As just noted, he provided the bond for Nancy Temple in her marriage to James Hill (3 April 1824; Elizabeth Hill's brother). He also did for Winny Temple and her marriage to Nimrod Parker (28 July 1827). Possibly the Temple females are his stepdaughters. This assumed Mary Polly was Jacob's second wife and she would have been married to a man named Temple beforehand. There were Temple families in Kentucky on early 19th century records as well as the 1790 US census in North Carolina alongside the BLANCHETs in Moore county.

⁴ There was one Jacob Blanchard in Kentucky on the 1810 US census. He was enumerated in Breckinridge county. Breckinridge was in northern Kentucky alongside the Ohio River next to Indiana. This Jacob was approximately the same age as the Jacob of interest. But there was the 'journey' or migration problem again. One journey scenario would have Jacob and his family go from Tennessee after the birth of Jacob Jr. (abt 1808) to northern Kentucky by the census enumeration date in 1810. The family would have stayed there and welcomed the birth of Manley in 1812. Then Jacob and the family would have gone to western Kentucky by 1814. Another scenario would have Jacob go from Tennessee after the birth of Jacob Jr. to Breckinridge county and then on to western Kentucky by April 1812 to welcome the birth of Manley. For either of those scenarios, the journey route does not seem likely. In addition, a search of the Breckinridge tax lists from 1808, 1809, (1810 missing), 1811, 1812, 1813 found no Blanchards or similar entries on the Breckinridge county, Kentucky tax lists (1800-1817). The journey problem and the tax list search suggested to Gail Jackson Miller (Kentucky genealogist) that the Breckinridge county Jacob was not the Jacob of interest.

⁵ An Isaac 'Blanchet' does appear on the 1800 US census for South Carolina in the Kershaw District on the same census as a Jacob 'Blanchard'. The age category for Isaac was 45 years-of-age or over. While the surname spelling (Blanchard-Blanchet) was different there may be some association between Jacob and Isaac. After the 1800 US census, Isaac disappeared. Only his wife, Louisa, appeared on the 1810 and 1820 US census in Kershaw District, South Carolina. She was enumerated as head of household with children. Isaac did not appear on either census.

Authorization: 40 hours.

Goal: Gather information on Jacob Blanchard and his wife of Christian County, Kentucky.

Background:

The client supplied the following background information on Jacob Blanchard. Some of the information is based strictly on “same name” but the client is confident of the information after Jacob Blanchard moved to Christian County, Kentucky.

According to census information supplied by the client, Jacob Blanchard was born about 1767 in North Carolina. He was a farmer with real estate valued at $150. His apparent wife was Mary, born about 1768 in North Carolina. The couple was living in the adjacent household to Jacob Blanchard, aged 40, born in Tennessee and his apparent wife, Viney, aged 33, born in South Carolina.¹ The client speculates that Jacob may have had more than one wife. He supplies the children of Jacob Blanchard as:

- Permelia Blanchard (1790-?), married to John S. Knapp in 1824 in Jefferson County, Kentucky²;
- Asa Blanchard;
- Jacob Blanchard, Jr., (1808-1880), married Lavinia Allen in 1829 in Christian County, Kentucky;
- Wade Hampton Blanchard (1811-1851), married Mary Ann Pille in 1830 in Morgan County, Illinois;
- Manley Tillet Blanchard (1812-1895), married 1) Elizabeth Hill in 1832 in Christian County and 2) Anna I. McElroy in 1883 in Wapello County, Iowa;
- Mary Blanchard (1814-1861), married Murdecai M. McIntosh in 1829 in Christian County; and ¹1850 U. S. Census, Christian County, Kentucky, District 1, p. 478B, Jacob Blanchard household, National Archives and Records Administration [NARA] film M432, roll 196.

²“Kentucky, County Marriage Records, 1783-1965,” Jefferson County, Kentucky, 1785-1842, John S. Knapp, digital image, Ancestry.com; supplied by the client. Record states that she was a daughter of Jacob Blanchard.

- Christina Blanchard (1817-1870), married John Alexander McIntosh, in 1830 in Christian County, Kentucky.

The client speculates that Jacob Blanchard may have been born in Cumberland County, North Carolina and moved to South Carolina as a young man. There was a Jacob Blanchard in the 1800 Kershaw County, South Carolina census. Since his son, Jacob, born about 1808-1810, reported his birth as Tennessee in the 1850 and 1860 census, the family may have moved from South Carolina through Tennessee to reach Kentucky. The client believes that the Jacob Blanchard family in the 1810 Breckinridge County, Kentucky and the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky censuses are the correct family. Christian County, Kentucky tax lists from 1826 through 1838 sporadically show a Jacob Blancet. The Jacob Blanchard family was listed in both the 1830 and 1840 Christian County, Kentucky censuses.

In 1846, Jacob Blancett, Sr. purchased 50 acres on the Tradewater River. Jacob and Mary Blanchard were listed in the 1850 Christian County, Kentucky census. By 3 November 1850, Mary Blanchard deeded the land of her deceased husband, Jacob, to their children living nearby including: Mary, Tiney, and Jacob.

Work will begin in Christian County and proceed backwards.

Procedure and Results:

Since information supplied by the client only included positive results, some records will be more thoroughly examined in order to search for other people of the same name in the area. Original records will be used from the sources listed.

1. Christian County, Kentucky, Tax Lists, 1808-1816, Family History Library [FHL] film 7926; 1817-1831, FHL film 7927; and 1832-1856, FHL film 7928. [See Attachment 1-1 for summary and Attachment 1-1a through 1-1m for copies of original images.]

Since Trigg County, Kentucky was formed from Christian and Caldwell Counties in 1820, a wider range of tax lists from Christian County was examined. Lists previously examined for Blanchard were re-examined to be sure that no additional entries could be found.

Jacob Blanchard [Senr]

1823, 1824. Assessed for horses only.

1825-1833. Assessed for 100 acres of 3rd rate land on the Tradewater River entered by Bradley and for 1-3 horses. He was listed as having 2 children aged 4-15 in 1829 and 1 child aged 5-15 in 1831.

1835-1836. Assessed for 2 horses valued at $50.

Comment: In 1837, Jacob Blanchard, Sr. would have been about 70 years old and would probably have been exempt from the payment of taxes based upon age and infirmity. The census records show that he was still living in Christian County.

Jacob Blanchard, Jr.

1831. First paid the poll tax. He would have been above 21 in this year suggesting that he was probably born before 1810 probably in late 1808 or in 1809.

1833, 1835. Paid the poll tax only. He may well still have been living in his father's household at this point. He evidently moved out of Christian County after 1835.

Tillet Blanchard.

1838. Assessed the poll tax as being above 21, suggesting a birth year of before 1817. The client believes he may have been born about 1812. He owned 4 horses valued at $200.

Comment: Note that Wade Hampton Blanchard does not seem to have lived in Christian County shortly after he turned 21 which would have been around 1832. The client does state that Wade married in September 1830 in Morgan County, Illinois, so perhaps he left home before he turned 21. Jacob, Jr. and Tillet Blanchard were listed but no other younger Blanchard men.

The client believes that the Jacob Blanchard in the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census is the same man as the above Jacob Blanchard [Sr.]. Tax lists for Trigg County were examined next.

2. Trigg County, Kentucky, Tax Lists, 1820-1830, FHL film 8245. [See Attachment 1-2a for the only copy found.]

1820. No Blanchard or similar entries.

1821, p. 2, Reg. 72nd - Sander's Co.. Joseph Blansett, 1 white male above 21, 2 horse valued at $75.

1822-1830. No Blanchard or similar entries.

Comment: The tax entries for the close neighbors for Jacob Blanchard from the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census have been listed below with the watercourse description of their land from their tax list entries. The order of the entries below is the same as on page 13 of the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census listed on page 5 of this report. This should help in locating Jacob Blanchard within the county.

In 1821, taxes were assessed by militia company; men living in the same area of the county. Notice that many of the close neighbors were in the same militia company as Jacob Blansett or Blanchard, called Joseph in the tax lists.

Henry McCombs, p. 14, Sander's Co. 2 tracts totaling 750 acres on Muddy Fork.

John Powers. No 1821 tax entry.

Comment: Based upon the individuals located near Jacob Blancet in the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census, the Joseph Blansett from the tax lists is probably the same man with most of his neighbors living in the district covered by Sander's militia company. This area is located in the northeastern corner of Trigg County on the Muddy Fork which is a branch of Little River. This area would not have been the same as the area Jacob Blanchard lived in Christian County. Jacob Blanchard moved to the extreme northwestern corner of Christian County near the headwaters of the Tradewater River. It would not have been a great distance from his home in Trigg County.

Comment: A quick survey was made of the 1810 census entries for the above individuals to determine where most of them were located at that time. This was done to see if any of the neighbors might have been friends, kin, or associates traveling with the Blanchard family to Trigg County. Keep in mind that the 1810 census does not survive for Tennessee. Only the less common names will be examined at this time with positive results reported.

The following seemed to have already been living in the area in 1810.

Russell Curtis, 1810 Christian Co., Ky Census, p. 95.
 Joel Wilson, 1810 Christian Co., Ky Census, p. 95.
 John Adams, 1810 Christian Co., Ky Census, p. 95.
 There was a James Tidford in the 1810 Caldwell Co., Ky Census, p. 4.
 John Dyer, 1810 Christian Co., Ky Census, p. 93.
 Joseph Barton, 1810 Christian Co., Ky Census, p. 89.
 William Barton, 1810 Christian Co., Ky Census, p. 65.

Comment: Many of the other individuals were not found at all or were so common that it was not possible to identify them with certainty. Some of the above names could also be of different individuals. All of these will be kept in mind for possible future associations with Jacob Blanchard.

Acknowledged by Uriah Downs before the Christian County Court clerk, 29 December 1825.

Comment: The 100 acres which was part of the Lucy Bradley survey was purchased by Jacob Blancett in 1825. The deed index recorded him as Joseph Blancett but the actual deed clearly lists Jacob Blancett. This acreage corresponds with his payment of taxes on the property beginning in 1825. He sold the same property in January 1835 to Shadrach Lantrip. This was also reflected in his last payment of taxes in 1833 on the property with no tax lists being available in 1834. He sold the property for slightly more than he paid for it.

10. Land Grants South of Green River, Volume 19:179-180, FHL film 272837. [See Attachment 1-4A.]

28 August 1816. Lucy Bradley patented a tract of land containing 400 acres in Christian County, Kentucky on the waters of the Tradewater. Based upon Certificate #1598 granted by Christian County in October 1803. Surveyed 4 August 1807.

 S 60 W in said seminary line 120 poles to a stake, Benjamin Pannell's corner in said line.
 S 180 poles to a white oak and elm, Cheek's corner.
 S 15 W 30 poles to an elm, sugartree, and sycamore on the bank of the Devil's Fork.
 S 75 E 180 poles to a post oak and poplar.
 N 5 E 110 poles to a sugartree and hickory.
 N 71 E 230 poles to a post oak.
 N 70 poles to a stake in Hardin's line.
 S 45 W 50 poles to Beg.

Comment: The metes and bounds of the grant and the Blanchard deed make it difficult to determine where the 100 acres was located in the 400 acre grant without platting the land. This was not done at this time.

Comment: This would seem to be the land which was patented by Jacob Blancett, Sr. as discussed below. Note that the deed was written in November 1850 stating that Jacob Blancet was already deceased. Since Jacob and Mary Blanchard were listed in the 1850 Christian County, Kentucky federal census and census day for 1850 was June 1, that date should be the date in which Jacob would still have been living if the census taker had followed directions. However, there is also the chance that the census taker actually counted all members of the household on the date the census was taken, September 25, and Jacob Blanchard was still living on September 25. Either way, Jacob Blanchard was deceased before the end of November 1850.

Note the close neighbors to the property: William McKnight, George Terry, and Moses Cranor. Notice that once again the Lantrips witnessed the deed.

William Owsley, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky

Comment: Since the deed above selling rights to the land belonging to Jacob Blanchard, Sr. did not include all the children who the client believes were Jacob Blanchard's children, legally, either these were the surviving heirs at that time or there would seem to have been other deeds in which Jacob Blanchard, Jr. bought up the rights of the other heirs to the land. Since the client believes that not all of the other children were deceased, deeds between Jacob Blanchard, Jr. and the other heirs were sought. None were found. Obviously, Jacob, Sr.'s wife, Mary, survived him.

Note that the land was located directly on the Christian and Hopkins County line on the waters of the Tradewater River.

13. Christian County, Kentucky, Deed Book 37:295-296, FHL film 463180. [See Attachment 1-7.]

31 March 1855. Jacob Blanchard of Hopkins County, Kentucky to Moses Cranor of Hopkins County, warranty deed. Consideration: $40. Tract in Christian County, Kentucky on the waters of the Tradewater containing 50 acres.

[Same metes and bounds as the original patent to Jacob Blancett, Sr. and sold by his heirs to Jacob Blancet.]

Jacob Blanchard, his mark

Proved by the oaths of the witnesses before the Christian County Court Clerk, 2 April 1855.

Comment: Since no other deeds showing that Jacob Blanchard purchased the rights of the other heirs, one might suspect that they were not in the area or that they were deceased with no heirs. There is also the possibility that deeds were filed in other counties. However, since this was not a valuable property, the sale probably went through with no problems and with no claims placed by other possible heirs.

Some work will be done on Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] in the other locations where the client believes he and his family have been found. A Permelia Blanchard married John Knapp on 18 July 1824 in Jefferson County, Kentucky.³ The client supplied the date and the marriage register containing the entry has been examined. Jacob Blanchard granted permission for his underage daughter, Permelia, to marry. Permelia would have been under 21 at that point suggesting a birth date of 1803 or later. Her mother would not usually have been mentioned on the permission in this time period unless the father had been deceased. At this point it is not certain whether the Jacob Blanchard in Jefferson County was the same man who lived in Christian County, Kentucky. However, whether he was or was not, the birth date listed in the client's family tree would not be correct and the assumption that the mother would be deceased would not be valid.

Normally women married in the county where they live unless there was an elopement which was not the case here. A marriage for an underage girl whose family lived in Christian County, Kentucky from 1823 forward would be an unusual occurrence based upon travel difficulty between Christian County and Jefferson County during this time period. Tax lists in Jefferson County were examined next to determine whether another Jacob Blanchard was living there.

Notice that Moses Cranor, whose land bordered the property, made the purchase.

14. Jefferson County, Kentucky, Tax Lists, 1818-1825, FHL film 8052. [See Attachment 1-8.]

A search for all Blanchard or similar names was made in every list for each of the years listed below.

1818, 1819, 1820, 1821, 1822. No Blanchard or similar entries. John Knapp not examined.

1823. List 3, p. 3. [Line 29.] Jacob Blanchard, 1 white male above 21. [See Attachment 1-8a.]

1823, List 3, p. 15. John Knapp, 1 white male above 21. [See Attachment 1-8b.]

1824. No Blanchard or Knapp or similar entries.

³Jefferson County, Kentucky, Marriage Register 2:247, FHL film 482706.

1825. No Blanchard or Knapp or similar entries.

Comment: This tax assessment would make sense for the father of an underage girl who met then married someone in Jefferson County the next year. The Jacob Blanchard of interest was assessed for taxes in Christian County, Kentucky in 1823-1830 continuously. It is highly unlikely that the Jacob Blanchard who was assessed for taxes in Christian County in 1823 and 1824 would be the same man who was assessed for taxes in Jefferson County in 1823 and whose probable daughter married John Knapp in summer 1824. The tax assessments make the two men being the same unlikely. Even though the trip from Christian County to Jefferson County would not be likely, the arduous nature of this particular trip makes it even more unlikely. River travel would have been upriver all the way. If travel was done by land, the travel would probably have been north from Christian County up the Saline trail up to Shawneetown then across the Ohio River and eastward across Illinois and Indiana and down to Jefferson County. Direct travel across the escarpment between Christian and Jefferson County within Kentucky would have been less likely during this time period.

Some additional work needs to be done here on the Knapp family. However, at this point, it would seem more likely that the Jacob Blanchard in Jefferson County, Kentucky is not the same man who was in Christian County, Kentucky at the same time period. The Breckinridge County entry for Jacob Blanchard in the 1810 census is also not a likely match to the man in Christian County. One cannot make the assumption that there were not multiple men in Kentucky with the same name just because census records do not show that there were multiples. Too many people avoided census takers or were simply missed.

15. 1830 U. S. Census, Jefferson County, Kentucky, p. 168, John Nap household, NARA film M19, roll 38. [This was not copied since the client has access to census records.]

John Nap, 1 white male under 5, 1 white male 5-9, 1 white male 20-29, 1 white female 5-9, a white female 30-39, no slaves.

Comment: This household could fit the John S. Knapp and Permelia (Blanchard) Knapp family. The adult female here would be a little too old to have been underage at her marriage in 1824 as the John A. Knapp and Permelia Blanchard marriage record suggested. No record has been located for this couple after this date.

16. Breckinridge County, Kentucky, Tax Lists, 1800-1817, FHL film 7895.
 Blanchard entries were sought for each of the following years.

1800, 1801, 1802, 1803, 1804, 1805, 1806, 1807, 1808, 1809. No Blanchard or similar entries.

1810. No list available.

1811, 1812, 1813, 1814, 1815, 1816, or 1817. No Blanchard or similar entries.

Comment: Evidently, this Jacob Blanchard was only passing through when he was enumerated in the 1810 Breckinridge County, Kentucky census. The 1810 census enumeration for the Jacob Blanchard family records an adult male over 45 suggesting a birth year of 1765 or before. Other members of the household also are not a perfect match for the Jacob Blanchard household of Christian County, Kentucky particularly if Permelia Blanchard Knapp was not part of this family. None of the neighbors seemed to match later entries in Trigg County or Christian County.

This would seem to be a different man than the one later in Christian County, Kentucky. This would not be a likely migration between Tennessee to Breckinridge County, Kentucky to Trigg/Christian County, Kentucky.

The Circuit Court handled equity and criminal cases at this time. Suits involving debt or estates would be handled by this court. Many of the Circuit Court Order Books for Christian County have indexes in the fronts of the books. These indexes are grouped by letter of plaintiffs' surnames for suits and under Commonwealth cases. Every-name indexes are not available. All pages of the indexes were examined to locate possible defendants as well as the plaintiffs. Individuals named Blanchard, Knapp, or McIntosh were sought in the indexes for each book for the suits and the Commonwealth cases. These records were examined in hopes of determining something about Jacob Blanchard's work life or perhaps his estate. Any criminal activity on the Blanchards or their kin would also be evident.

17. Christian County, Kentucky, Circuit Court Order Book 27, 1848-1849, FHL film 961831.

No entries were located in the index for Blanchard, Knapp or Napp, or McIntosh.

18. Christian County, Kentucky, Circuit Court Order Book 28, 1849-1851, FHL film 961831.

No index. However, because this volume covered the time period immediately following the death of Jacob Blanchard, the volume was examined page by page strictly looking at the parties listed as plaintiff and defendant. There were no Blanchard, McIntosh, or Knapp entries in the style of any case listed.

19. Christian County, Kentucky, Circuit Court Order Book 29, 1851-1853, FHL film 961831.

There were no entries in the index for Blanchard, Knapp, or Napp. There was one entry for McIntosh.

Comment: Since nothing concerning the Blanchard estate was located, earlier order books with indexes were examined next. Since these are only to add possible detail, only those with indexes will be examined at this time.

Comment: The title page for Order Book U was listed at the end of film 961828 but the film ended at that point. There was no Order Book U at the beginning of film 961829. Evidently, there was a mistake in filming this series. The Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives [KDLA] may have a filmed copy or the original book.

Comment: The Blanchards seem to have been law-abiding without any Commonwealth cases being brought against them in any of the books examined. Evidently, Jacob Blanchard's estate had no suits being brought against it for debt and the family itself evidently had no problems with how it was settled; thus no equity suit involving the estate. Of course, there could be isolated cases in the unindexed books but these were not examined page by page other than those during the time period where Jacob Blanchard's estate would have been settled.

The County Court Order book for the period when Jacob Blanchard died was examined.

36. Christian County, Kentucky, County Court Order Book K, 1847-1852, FHL film 465545.

The book did contain an index. No entry was found mentioning the Jacob Blanchard estate or death. No other Blanchard entries were found.

Comment: Christian County, Kentucky records dealing with estates were examined next even though no record of the probate of an estate for Jacob Blanchard was found.

37. Christian County, Kentucky, Will Index, Volume 1, 1797-1888, FHL film 1942966 and FHL film 466838.

There were no Blanchard entries located for a will or other estate papers in the index. There was some damage to a pages in the "B" entries.

A second filming, FHL film 466838, of this record has no damage to the pages. Still, no Blanchard entries were found.

Comment: The next step will be an attempt to determine where many family members were buried in the hope that the burial location of Jacob, Sr. and wife, Mary Blanchard, might be determined. Since Jacob, Sr. and wife were living in the adjacent household to their son, Jacob, Jr. and family in 1850 near the point when they died, the burial locations of members of that family will be the focus first. Available death certificates list the burial locations of the children of Jacob and Melvina Blanchard.

Alen Blanchard, aged 78 born Ky. No death date was filed in. The coroner signed the death certificate on 28 November 1924. Most likely he was found dead in his home from heart failure. He was buried in the Cranor Cemetery. Notice that his wife is listed as his mother on the death certificate.

44. Kentucky, Death Certificate #7593 (1936), Nancy Camplin. [See Attachment 1-16.]

Nancy Camplin, aged 78 born Christian County, Kentucky, died 12 March 1936 in Hopkins County, Kentucky [Earlington Precinct]. Burial: At St. Charles, cemetery not listed.

Comment: Note that her mother's maiden name was incorrectly listed as "Farmer." Her burial was evidently at the Lake Grove Cemetery as listed below.

45. Hopkins County Genealogical Society, Hopkins County, Kentucky Cemeteries, Volume 1 (Madisonville, Kentucky: By the Society, 1971)97- 98, 102-107. [See Attachment 1-17 for the complete listing of the cemeteries.] There do not seem to be other Blanchards buried here.

Comment: The cemetery books for Hopkins County contain a complete listing for the Cranor Cemetery. The transcribers, the date of transcription, and the exact location of the cemetery was omitted. However, the cemetery is located next to the Cranor Church about 4 miles south of St. Charles in Hopkins County on the Old Buttermilk Road. It is only about 1 mile from the Christian County boundary.

Cranor Cemetery. Pages 102-107.

The listing includes: Miss Daisy Blanchard, Pratt Blanchard, Fields Blanchard, and Joshua Blanchard. The last three seem to be buried near each other based upon the arrangement of the listing. Interestingly, page 107states "There is a grave that looks old and the tradition is that this Blanchard was buried on top of the ground." There are unmarked graves near this burial.

Comment: Notice that several of the above death certificates list individuals not shown in the cemetery listings. These include Alen Blanchard and John Blanchard. One wonders if the "Blanchard. . . buried on top of the ground" was one of these and whether there are other Blanchard burials in these unmarked graves. Photographs of the cemetery at FindAGrave show it to be fairly well maintained. It would be interesting to determine how many unmarked graves are in the vicinity of the Blanchard "on top of the ground." Notice the Jacob's neighbor, Moses Cranor, was buried here.

*The Cranor Church was built as a school in 1914 so the cemetery seems to predate the Church. The Building is on the National Register of Historic Places:

The other Hopkins County cemetery volumes were also examined for Blanchard burials. Of the six volumes of cemetery books published by the Hopkins County Genealogical Society, only volumes 1, 2, and 4 contain entries of interest cited in the indexes. Those included are later burials. It should be noted that volume 4 contains cemeteries for the western area of Hopkins County but only cites Blanchard entries by surname. There are entries in the index which cannot be found in the actual book. The Castleberry Cemetery was not located in these books. It is probably in Christian County.

The work here does not suggest a burial location for Jacob Blanchard, Sr. or his wife, Mary, although there is certainly a chance that they are in an unmarked grave possibly even located in the Cranor Cemetery. The oldest surviving markers in the Cranor Cemetery appear to be deaths for the mid-1860s but there could be earlier unmarked graves.

[See Attachment 1-18.]

Fannie Morgan and her husband, James M. Morgan are listed on page 163 in the Castleberry Cemetery.

Nancy Blanchard and her probable son, Roy Blanchard are listed on page 159 in the Shy Flat Cemetery. There were no other Blanchard listings.

Comment: At this point, more information is needed concerning the location of the Jacob Blanchard, Sr. family prior to their move to Christian County, Kentucky. More work needs to be done in Kentucky tax lists for the period immediately prior to 1810 through 1820. At this point, it is unclear where the family was living prior to 1823 when Jacob Blanchard first paid taxes in Christian County, Kentucky. The surrounding counties in 1820 to Trigg County will be examined but I suspect that the family was in Tennessee prior to their move.

Comment: The next step was to re-examine census records of the older known children of Jacob Blanchard to determine ages and recorded birth places and to re-examine census records for Jacob Blanchard to determine who his close neighbors were. Since the client has these records, they will not be copied for this report.

Comment: Census day in 1850 was June 1. The census taker was supposed to record all information as of that day. The ages were supposed to be based upon the age at census day, however, sometimes the age was as of the date the census was taken, which would have been 25 September. Either way, it appears that Allen Blanchard was born in 1850. Notice that the ages, reported at death earlier in the report for these children, do not always correspond with this information.

Comment: Jacob Blanchard [Jr.] seems to have been born in Tennessee based upon these records. This adds weight to the idea that the Jacob Blanchard, Sr. recorded in the 1810 Breckinridge County, Kentucky census and in the Jefferson County, Kentucky 1823 tax lists and the 1824 marriage records was probably not the man who later lived in Christian County. The migration path between Tennessee and Breckinridge County, Kentucky would not be a typical pattern of movement in a short time and the movement from Christian County, Kentucky to Jefferson County, Kentucky would certainly not be typical based upon limitations of roads and geography at the time. More likely, Jacob Blanchard, Sr. moved directly from Tennessee to the Christian-Trigg County, Kentucky area. However, this cannot be claimed with absolute certainty.

Comment: Since this is the only census record recording the birthplace of Wade H. Blanchard, his Kentucky birth is less firm than if there were more records. However, if Wade H. Blanchard was the son of Jacob Blanchard, this would suggest that the Jacob Blanchard, Sr. family was in Kentucky by 1812. Several researchers cite a county history for the source of a connection to the Jacob Blanchard family. This has been re-examined below.

W. R. Brink & Co., Combined History of Schuyler and Brown Counties, Illinois with Illustrations Descriptive of Their Scenery, and Biographical Sketches of Their Prominent Men and Pioneers (Philadelphia: W. R. Brink & Co., 1882)368. [See Attachment 1-19 for section including the History of Pea Ridge, pages 366-369.]

The history of Pea Ridge township states that the northern part of the township was settled in 1836 by men named James Pell, Wade Blansett, Tillet Blansett, and a man named Lindsey. All of these came at about the same time from the south.

Nothing more was stated about the Blansetts, probably Wade H. and Tillet M. Blanchard. One makes the assumption that they all came together but this cannot be determined with certainty. Additional work needs to be done on Wade Blanchard since he does not seem to appear in Christian County, Kentucky records.

Comment: Based upon the marriage of Wade H. Blanchard in Morgan County, Illinois in 1830, he went there prior to his arrival in Brown County. Some records from that location will be examined next.

Date of License: September 16, 1830

Name of the Man: Wade H. Blancet

Name of the Woman: Mary Pille

By Whom Married: Daniel Troy[?], J. P.
 When Married: 23 September 1830.
 Date of Return: 7 October 1830.

Comment: Wade H. Blancet would seem to have been underage at this point but no records survive which record information taken at the point he received his license. This record does not add information beyond what the client already knows. Other records available to me are all in Illinois and would seem to be what the client already has in his possession.

The client also mentions Asa Blanchard as a possible relative.

51. Asa Blanchard.

The FindAGrave memorial for Asa Blanchard who was buried in Van Buren County, Iowa https://search.ancestry.com/cgi-bin/sse.dll?dbid=60525&h=100629616&indiv=try&o_vc=Record:OtherRecord&rhSource=7163 listed his birthplace as Fayette County, Kentucky in 1804. There was an older Asa Blanchard there who was a prominent silversmith in Fayette County. The websites listed here describes something about his work, <http://www.asablanchard.com/about.html> and <http://www.asablanchard.com/>.

The Asa Blanchard of Van Buren County, Iowa married Anna Brown in Rush County, Indiana on 7 January 1832. [See Attachment 1-21.] If he was born in 1804 in Fayette County, Kentucky, perhaps he was listed with other Blanchards in Fayette County after he turned 21. Tax lists revealed the following information.

The 1828 Fayette County, Kentucky tax lists only show one Blanchard in any of the three districts. This was Asa Blanchard who would seem to have been the prominent silversmith of Fayette County since he did not die until 1838. The entry shows him with 21 acres of 3rd rate land in Barren County, Kentucky with 4 slaves and 3 horses. He also owned 10 acres in Fayette County and a lot in Fayette County, Kentucky.⁴

An examination of the 1804⁵ and 1805⁶ Fayette County, Kentucky tax lists does no reveal any Blanchards or similar in Fayette County in those years. Asa Blanchard, [Sr.] probably had not moved there yet. The will of Asa Blanchard of Fayette County was written 10 September 1838 and probated in the October 1838 Fayette County Court.⁷ However, no son, Asa, was listed. [See Attachment 1-22.]

Comment: More work would need to be done on this family to even determine whether the Asa Blanchard of Van Buren County, Iowa was from Fayette County, Kentucky and whether he was related to the Asa Blanchard there or whether this is just the "same" name must be related kind of research appearing at the FindAGrave memorial for Asa Blanchard in Van Buren County. Caution should also be exercised in assuming that the Asa Blanchard in Van Buren County, Iowa is related to Manley Tillet Blanchard based upon location and Manley Tillet Blanchard having a son named Asa.

Manley Tillet Blanchard is believed to be the M. T. Blanchard in the Van Buren County, Iowa Territory 1840 census.⁸ By 1847, he was living in nearby Wapello County, Iowa.⁹ Asa Blanchard was listed in 1847 in Van Buren County, Iowa.¹⁰ Even though their property was not extremely far apart in the different counties, I have not yet found a connection between them.

Comment: As I am sure you know, the 1810 U. S. Census for Tennessee has not survived. Chuck Sherrill did a reconstruction for the 1810 census based upon tax lists, court records, etc. The book reference is : Charles A. Sherrill, The Reconstructed 1810 Census of Tennessee (Santa Maria, California: Janaway Publishing, Inc., 2007). I do not have actual access to the book but a call to the archivists at the Robertson County, Tennessee County Archives let me know that there was no Jacob Blanchard or similar surname in the book. The only references were to Blanchards in Warren County, Tennessee. The reference below points toward that group of Blanchards that came across Tennessee.

53. Blanchards in Warren County, Tennessee.

Janet Wright gave the following information in an archived post a rootsweb:

"It looks like Peter came to Warren County, Tennessee from Wayne County, KY right about 1808 (because he was on the 1808 Wayne County KY tax list but also getting land in Warren Co., TN). His brothers Archibald and Henry and his son James also came to Warren Co., TN before 1812 (James was still on the Wayne Co KY tax list in 1810. but Henry and Archibald weren't). James stayed, or at least kept land, in Warren County TN until 1826 or later, but Peter, Henry, and James were all in the 1830 census for Jackson County, Alabama. I don't know what became of Archibald."

[<https://lists.rootsweb.com/hyperkitty/list/blancett-dna.rootsweb.com/thread/4626100/>]

The post has a little more information but nothing on Jacob Blanchard. It does point out that there were probably multiple groups of Blanchards coming across Kentucky and Tennessee.

Comment: Most of the Blanchards here seem to be fairly well established in the county. Most own land even though they are not all closely tied together by location. Several did own land on the Muddy River. There being a single entry for a Jacob Blanchard is difficult. This could be the Jacob Blanchard of interest moving westward toward the Christian County, Kentucky area but it is not possible to determine this with certainty. He does seem to be living in the area near the Muddy River as do several of the other Blanchards. He is not a close neighbor to any of them.

The last step here will be to examine the neighbors and associates who signed documents with Jacob Blanchard, Sr. In January 1835, Jacob Blanchard bought land in Christian County from Shadrach Lantrip with Thomas Lantrip and William Lantrip witnessing the deed.¹¹ In January 1850 when the heirs of Jacob Blanchard, Sr. sold his property to his son, Jacob Blanchard, Jr., David Lantrip and James Lantrip witnessed the deed.¹² In March 1855, Jacob Blanchard, Jr. sold the land to Moses Cranor. John Cranor, Sr. and John Cranor, Jr. witnessed the deed.¹³

Lantrip and Cranor.

In the 1830 Christian County, Kentucky census, Shadrach Lantrip was listed near the bottom of page 36 and Jacob Blanchard was located eight households later on page 37.¹⁴ Shadrack Lantrip was also enumerated in the 1820¹⁵ Christian County, Kentucky census. The younger men listed as witnesses on the various records associated with Jacob Blanchard were probably sons and grandsons of Shadrack Lantrip. No particular association has been located which shows a relationship between the Lantrips and the Blanchards prior to Christian County, Kentucky. However, a tree by Tochi Spicer at Ancestry.com reports that the Lantrip family was from Union County, South Carolina.¹⁶ Other specific research on this Lantrip family was not done at this time and there is not specific evidence in the records examined that the Blanchard and Lantrip families were associated prior to living near each other in Kentucky. However, this family should be noted for possible future research.

Moses Cranor was listed in the 1850 Hopkins County, Kentucky census¹⁷ and Jacob Blanchard, Sr. was living the Christian County, Kentucky at that time.¹⁸ The families were probably not far apart even living in different counties based upon the description of the grant which Jacob Blanchard had obtained for 50 acres in Christian County in 1846¹⁹ and then the subsequent transfers of the land later.²⁰ Moses Cranor would not have come to Kentucky with the Blanchards. He seems to have married in Guilford County, North Carolina in August 1830.²¹ The Moses Cranor family later moved to Wilson County, Kansas where Moses Cranor died in 1875 and was buried in the Altoona Cemetery.²²

At this point, no other new associations have been found which warrant investigation. No clues have been found to this point in Christian County, Kentucky which point directly at the location for the next round of work. The client has already started looking at other locations where Blanchards lived. However, realizing that there were probably multiple men named Jacob Blanchard in the southern United States in the late 1700s and early 1800s, work will need to be done to tie any of these families to those in Christian County before reasonable conclusions can be drawn.

Summary and Conclusions:

More work can always be done on any project but this seemed to be good stopping point. The current block of work has only been able to add a few details to the work previously done by the client. Some records previously examined by the client were re-examined, but not all. Most of the original records created by the Christian County, Kentucky County Court and other locations in the area have been digitized and are available online. The exceptions being loose papers created by the Circuit County. These would include chancery and criminal suits for the period. However, an examination of the Circuit Court Order Books suggests that the Blanchards were law abiding and had not accumulated enough wealth to have been involved in equity suits. Deeds also did not point to equity suits involving land.

An attempt was made to locate the Jacob Blanchard family in Tennessee through records accounting for families there in 1810, but this was unsuccessful. No direct connection has been located between the Blanchard families located in Tennessee and Jacob Blanchard. No direct connection has been located between Asa Blanchard of Van Buren County, Iowa and Jacob Blanchard of Christian County. No direct connection has been found between the Logan County, Kentucky Blanchards and Jacob Blanchard. Since no clues have been found which point toward an earlier residence of Jacob Blanchard, work stopped at this point.

Because the total body of work is incomplete and the client will be writing the details of the Blanchard family later, no attempt will be made here to formally summarize the account of the current work in a textual format. The work will start with a summary of the known family based upon the cited records including those located by this researcher and those re-examined by this researcher which had been previously cited by the client. A chronology will then be added as bulleted points with explanations of bulleted exceptions written in italics.

1. Jacob Blanchard was born about 1767 in North Carolina,²³ and died in late 1850 in Christian County, Kentucky. Even though there is no exact death date, a range can be estimated. He was enumerated in the 1850 Christian County, Kentucky census with his apparent wife.²⁴ Census day in 1850 was June 1. If the census taker followed directions for his job, then Jacob Blanchard was still living on 1 June 1850. However, if the census taker did not follow directions, then perhaps, Jacob Blanchard was still living on 25 September 1850 which was the date the census was enumerated.²⁵ The deed in which his land was deeded by some of his heirs to his son, Jacob Blanchard, [Jr.] was dated as November 1850 with no day listed and proved by the witnesses on 1 March 1851.²⁶ Jacob Blanchard can be assumed to have died sometime after the census was taken in 1850, either the census date of June 1 or the recording date of September 25, but before the end of November 1850 when the deed selling his land was created..

There is no documentary evidence available which suggests that Jacob Blanchard married more than one time. His oldest documented child seems to have been Jacob Blanchard, [Jr.] who was born circa 1808²⁷ - 1810²⁸ in Tennessee. Jacob Blanchard, [Sr.] may have married prior to his move to Kentucky and he certainly could have had children prior to Jacob Blanchard, [Jr.] No marriage record in Tennessee has been found for Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] to his wife,

Mary.²⁹ The maiden name of Mary Blanchard has not yet been determined. Census records place her birth at 1768 in North Carolina³⁰ and she died sometime after the deed by the Jacob Blanchard heirs selling property to Jacob Blanchard, Jr. in November 1850. She could still have been living when the deed was proven in March of 1851 but this can not be determined from the deed itself.³¹

The children of Jacob Blanchard and his wife, Mary, probably included the following but there could have been others.

- i. JACOB BLANCHARD,³² born 1808³³ - 1810³⁴ in Tennessee, died sometime after the census was taken in 1870.³⁵ He took out a bond to marry Lavinia or Viney Allen on 15 December 1829 in Christian County, Kentucky.³⁶
- ii. WADE H. BLANCHARD, born about 1812 in Kentucky,³⁷ the client reports his death as 1851. He married Mary Pille on 23 September 1830 in Morgan County, Illinois.³⁸ No direct evidence has been found to connect this man to Christian County, Kentucky or to his father. He married prior to turning 21 and was not listed in Christian County, Kentucky tax lists.³⁹ The relationship seems to be suggested by the relationship between Manley Tillet Blanchard and Wade H. Blanchard as early pioneers of Brown County, Illinois⁴⁰ and by naming patterns in the children of Manley Tillet Blanchard noted by the client.

- iii. MANLEY TILLET BLANCHARD, born 1812, died 1895.⁴¹ He married Elizabeth Hill on 11 October 1832 in Christian County, Kentucky.⁴² Neither Manley Tillet Blanchard nor Wade H. Blanchard were listed as heirs of Jacob Blanchard when his land was being sold.⁴³
- iv. MARY BLANCHARD,⁴⁴ 1814-1861. Married Murdecai M. McIntosh 2 March 1829 in Christian County, Kentucky.⁴⁵
- v. CHRISTINA BLANCHARD,⁴⁶ 1817-1870. Married John Alexander McIntosh, 18 February 1830 in Christian County, Kentucky.⁴⁷

Below is a chronology of records citing a man named Jacob Blanchard. Some of these are likely for a different man than the one in Christian County, Kentucky. Those not believed to be associated with the Jacob Blanchard of Christian County or possibly not believed to be this man have been listed in italics with the evidence for the uncertainty. Not all of the information on the children previously discussed, has not been listed here unless it relates to the family in general or seems to point toward an individual not being connected to the family.

- 1767. Jacob Blanchard born in North Carolina.⁴⁸

Brink & Co., Combined History of Schuyler and Brown Counties, Illinois with Illustrations Descriptive of Their Scenery, and Biographical Sketches of Their Prominent Men and Pioneers (Philadelphia: W. R. Brink & Co., 1882)368. [See Attachment 1-19 for section including the History of Pea Ridge, pages 366-369.] The history states that the northern part of Pea Ridge township was settled in 1836 by men named James Pell, Wade Blansett, Tillet Blansett, and a man named Lindsey. The date is probably incorrect since Tillet Blanchard was still in Christian County, Kentucky in the 1838 tax lists.

⁴¹Information received by the researcher from the client, Jay Blanchard. The birth date could be later. He was listed only once in the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists in 1838. He would have been above 21 at that point.

- 1768. Mary, wife of Jacob Blanchard born in North Carolina.⁴⁹
- 1803 or later, Permelia Blanchard was born. Her birth year was suggested by the fact that she was underage in July of 1824 at her marriage in Jefferson County, Kentucky to John S. Knapp. Her father, Jacob Blanchard gave permission in 1824 for the marriage⁵⁰ and paid taxes in Jefferson County, Kentucky in 1823. Since the Jacob Blanchard of interest paid taxes in Christian County, Kentucky in both 1823 and 1824,⁵¹ this is assumed to be a different Jacob Blanchard. Permelia is not likely to be the daughter of Jacob and Mary Blanchard of Christian County, Kentucky.
- 1804. Asa Blanchard was born in Fayette County, Kentucky, possibly the son of the prominent silversmith, Asa Blanchard according to his FindAGrave entry.⁵² However, the 1838 will of Asa Blanchard, the silversmith does not mention a son named, Asa.⁵³ Also, no direct evidence that Asa Blanchard was the son of Jacob Blanchard of Christian County, Kentucky has been located.
- 1808-1810. Jacob Blanchard [Jr.] born in Tennessee.⁵⁴
- 1810. Jacob Blanchard listed in the 1810 U. S. Census, Breckinridge County, Kentucky.⁵⁵ Since Jacob Blanchard [Jr.] was born circa 1808-1810 in Tennessee, this would not be a likely location for the Blanchard family to be following a move from Tennessee. It is possible, but it should be noted that if they did live there it was probably very temporary. Jacob Blanchard did not pay taxes in Breckinridge County in any year during the period 1800-1817.⁵⁶

- 1819. Jacob Blanchard paid taxes in Logan County, Kentucky.⁵⁷ No direct connection has been found between this man and the other Blanchards living in Logan County, Kentucky other than they all seem to be living, not near each other, in the area of the Muddy River. There is no way to determine whether this is the Jacob Blanchard of interest or another man of the same name from the records examined to date.
- 1820. Jacob Blanchard listed in the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census.⁵⁸
- 1821. Joseph Blanchard paid taxes in Trigg County, Kentucky.⁵⁹ Based upon the individuals located near Jacob Blancet in the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census, the Joseph Blansett from the tax lists is probably the same man with most of his neighbors living in the district covered by Sander's militia company. This area is located in the northeastern corner of Trigg County on the Muddy Fork which is a branch of Little River. This area would not have been the same as the area Jacob Blanchard lived in Christian County. After 1821, Jacob Blanchard moved to the extreme northwestern corner of Christian County near the headwaters of the Tradewater River. It would not have been a great distance from his home in Trigg County.
- 1823-1824. Jacob Blanchard was assessed for taxes in Christian County, Kentucky.⁶⁰
- 1823. A Jacob Blanchard and a John S. Knapp paid taxes in Jefferson County, Kentucky.⁶¹ Since the Jacob Blanchard of interest was in Christian County, Kentucky in 1823, this would most likely be a different man.
- 1824, 18 July 1824. John Knapp married Permelia Blanchard in Jefferson County, Kentucky. Her father, Jacob Blanchard, gave permission. No permission would have been required from her mother during this period. Permelia would have been under 21 suggesting a birth year of 1803 or later.⁶² Since the Jacob Blanchard of interest was in Christian County, Kentucky during both 1823 and 1824 and travel between the two locations would have been very difficult, this is assumed not to be the Jacob Blanchard of Legally all of the heirs of Jacob Blanchard would have needed to sell their shares in his property since he left no will. Authorization: 15-20 hours.

Goals:

- The client noted records from a family reunion in 1939 which stated an Edmonson County, Kentucky connection. Check to determine whether Jacob Blanchard was in any of the counties which would have become Edmonson County, Kentucky prior to his move to Trigg County, Kentucky about 1820.
- Determine whether any of the spouses of Jacob Blanchard's children provide a clue to his origins.

Background:

Previous work has shown that Jacob Blanchard was born about 1767 in North Carolina,¹ and died sometime after the census was taken in 1850 in Christian County, Kentucky but before the end of November 1850. He was enumerated in the 1850 Christian County, Kentucky census with his apparent wife.² Census day in 1850 was June 1. If the census taker had followed directions for his job, then Jacob Blanchard would have been living on 1 June 1850. However, if the census taker did not follow directions, then perhaps, Jacob Blanchard was still living on 25 September 1850 which was the date the census was enumerated.³ The deed in which his land was deeded by some of his heirs to his son, Jacob Blanchard, [Jr.], was dated as November 1850 with no day listed and proved by the witnesses on 1 March 1851.⁴

There is no documentary evidence available which suggests that Jacob Blanchard married more than one time. His oldest documented child seems to have been Jacob Blanchard, [Jr.] who was born circa 1808⁵ - 1810⁶ in Tennessee. Jacob Blanchard, [Sr.] may have married prior to his move to Kentucky and he certainly could have had children prior to Jacob Blanchard, [Jr.] No marriage record in Tennessee has been found for Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] to his wife, Mary.⁷

Mary Blanchard's maiden name has not yet been determined. Census records place her birth at 1768 in North Carolina.⁸ She died sometime after November 1850 when the deed by the Jacob Blanchard heirs selling property to Jacob Blanchard, Jr. was written. She could still have been living when the deed was proven in March of 185, but this can not be determined from the deed itself.⁹

The children of Jacob Blanchard and his wife, Mary, probably included the following but there could have been others.

- i. JACOB BLANCHARD,¹⁰ born 1808¹¹ - 1810¹² in Tennessee, died sometime after the census was taken in 1870.¹³ He took out a bond to marry Lavinia or Viney Allen on 15 December 1829 in Christian County, Kentucky.¹⁴
- ii. WADE H. BLANCHARD, born about 1812 in Kentucky,¹⁵ the client reports his death as 1851. He married Mary Pille on 23 September 1830 in Morgan County, Illinois.¹⁶ No direct evidence has been found to connect this man to Christian County, Kentucky or to his father. He married prior to turning 21 and was not listed in Christian County, Kentucky tax lists.¹⁷ The relationship seems to be suggested by the relationship between Manley Tillet Blanchard and Wade H.

R. Brink & Co., 1882)368. [See Attachment 1-19 for section including the History of Pea Ridge, pages 366-369.] The history states that the northern part of Pea Ridge township was settled in 1836 by men named James Pell, Wade Blansett, Tillet Blansett, and a man named Lindsey. The date is probably incorrect since Tillet Blanchard was still in Christian County, Kentucky in the 1838 tax lists.

¹⁹Information received by the researcher from the client, Jay Blanchard. The birth date could be later. He was listed only once in the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists in 1838. He would have been above 21 at that point.

located near Jacob Blancet in the 1820 Trigg County, Kentucky census, the Joseph Blansett from the tax lists is probably the same man with most of his neighbors living in the district covered by Sander's militia company. This area is located in the northeastern corner of Trigg County on the Muddy Fork which is a branch of Little River. This area would not have been the same as the area Jacob Blanchard lived in Christian County. After 1821, Jacob Blanchard moved to the extreme northwestern corner of Christian County near the headwaters of the Tradewater River. It would not have been a great distance from his home in Trigg County.

In 1823-1824, Jacob Blanchard was assessed for taxes in Christian County, Kentucky.²⁹ He began paying taxes on 100 acres of land on the Tradewater River entered by Bradley in 1825.³⁰ This would be the tract patented by Lucy Bradley in 1816.³¹ He had purchased the tract on 15 June 1825 from Uriah Downs.³² He continued to pay taxes on this property for the period 1826-1830.³³ The family was enumerated in the 1830 census in Christian County, Kentucky.³⁴

In 1831 and 1833, both Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] and Jacob Blanchard [Jr] were assessed for taxes in Christian County. Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] paid taxes on the 100 acres on the Tradewater River and Jacob Blanchard [Jr] first paid the poll tax as a white male above 21.³⁵ On 4 January 1835, Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] sold his 100 acre tract on the Tradewater River to Shadrach Lantrip. Both men were residents of Christian County at this point.³⁶ Jacob Blanchard [Jr.] last paid taxes in Christian County, Kentucky in 1835.³⁷ He was still enumerated in the Christian County, Kentucky census in 1840.³⁸ Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] last paid taxes in Christian County, Kentucky in 1835 and 1836. He owned no land in either year.³⁹

Tillet Blansett married Betsy Hill in Christian County, Kentucky on 11 October 1832. Samuel Clark, J.P. solemnized the marriage.⁴⁰ Tillet Blanchard and Wade H. Blanchard were reported to have moved to the northern part of Pea Ridge township in Brown County, Illinois by 1836.⁴¹ Since the history reporting this date was published in 1882 and the Blanchard boys were no longer there, the date of 1836 could be incorrect. In 1838, Tillet Blanchard paid taxes in Christian County, Kentucky on four horses.⁴² This was the only year during the period prior from the 1830s to 1855 in which he paid taxes in Christian County. By 1840, Manley Tillet Blanchard was listed in the Van Buren County, Iowa census.⁴³ In 1847, Manley Tillet Blanchard was enumerated in the Wapello County, Iowa state census.⁴⁴

Jacob Blanchard [Sr.] was living in Christian County, Kentucky when the census was enumerated in 1840.⁴⁵ His age and the age of his apparent wife continued consistent with the previously stated birth years for both. On July 1, 1847, Jacob Blanchard Sr. patented 50 acres on the Christian and Hopkins County line in Christian County and on the Tradewater River.⁴⁶ Jacob and Mary Blanchard were enumerated in the 1850 Christian County, Kentucky census. This could be either June 1 on census day or on 25 September 1850 when the census was enumerated. This is the last record that shows Jacob to be alive.⁴⁷ The couple was living adjacent to their son, Jacob, Jr., who had married Lavinia or Viney Allen.⁴⁸ In November 1850, Mary Blanchard, widow of Jacob Blanchard and the daughters of Jacob Blanchard, Mary McIntosh and Christina McIntosh and their husbands, sold their interests in the 50 acre tract on the Tradewater River to Jacob Blanchard, Jr.⁴⁹ No deeds by any of the other heirs selling their undivided shares in this property could be found. Legally all of the heirs of Jacob Blanchard would have needed to sell their shares in his property since he left no will. However, because the property was not valuable, there is a good chance that no one bothered with this detail since the other heirs were out-of-state. No other later record has been located for Mary Blanchard. On 31 March 1855, Jacob Blanchard [Jr.] of Hopkins County, Kentucky sold the 50 acre tract which he had obtained from the heirs of Jacob Blanchard, Sr. to Moses Cranor.⁵⁰

The client supplied the following information on the families of Jacob Blanchard's children. All of the information below comes from statements provided by the client.

The Hill family

Manley Tillet was married in Christian County, Kentucky in 1832 to Elizabeth Hill. Manley and Elizabeth, as well as her brother, James Hill, accompanied Manley and Elizabeth to Brown County, Illinois then back to Kentucky and then to Van Buren County, Iowa and finally Wapello County, Iowa. Manley, Elizabeth and James are buried in the same rural Wapello County, Iowa cemetery. Possibly James Hill's wife might provide a clue.

The Allen family

Jacob Blanchard Jr. 1808-1880 married to Lavinia (Viney) Allen 1813-1880. The client has no information on the Allen family. The children of Jacob Blanchard, Jr. and Lavinia (Allen) Blanchard included: Fannie (1834-1910); Fields B (1842-1890); John (1845-1929); Joshua (1848-1929); Alan (1850-1924); Jane (1852-1923); Olena J (1857-1870); and Nancy (1861-1936). The family was listed in the 1870 US Census Christian County, Kentucky, Scates Mill Township, Post Office: Hopkinsville, KY.

The McIntosh family

Mary Blanchard (1814-1861) married Mordecai Murdock McIntosh (1804-1880). Their children included: Laura (1833-xxxx); Felix (1837-1907); Lydia C (1838-1911); Rachel (1839-xxxx); Martha Ann (1840-1924); Patsy Ann (1842-xxxx); Mahala (1844-xxxx); Virginia (1845-1924); and Christine (1846-1888). The family was listed in the 1860 US Census Hopkins County, Kentucky, Post Office: Underwood.

The McIntosh family

Christena Blanchard (1817-1870) married John Alexander (Jack) McIntosh (1808-1858). Their children included: John Alexander (1833-1857); Wade Hampton (1835-1927); Mary J (1836-1927); Malinda J (1840-xxxx); Manley Tillet (1845-xxxx); Murdock (1845-1918); Angus (1846-1933); Allen (1847-1919); Mahala B (1847-1922); Nancy Mary (1848-1914); Daniel (1851-1888); Latitia ('Tishie' 1852-1932); Rora (1856-1931); and Ranse (1857-1933). The family was listed in the 1870 US Census Hopkins County, Kentucky, Post Office Underwood, Precinct #5 Charleston.

⁵⁰Christian County, Kentucky, Deed Book 37:295-296, FHL film 463180. [See Attachment 1-7.]

Parents of the McIntosh brothers:

Alexander McIntosh(1776-1863) and Mary Jane Jackson (1780-1863) were listed in the 1860 US Census living in Hopkins County, Kentucky surrounded by children, namely Jennie (at home), Christina (at home), Daniel, Murdock, Allen and their families are adjacent. Their children included: Daniel (1804-1873); Mordecai Murdock (1804-1880); Margaret (1807-xxxx); John Jack 1808-1858); Christina (1810-1855); Mary Polly (1817-1870); Allen (1818-1899); and Jennie Jenette (1821-1883). The likely parents of Alexander McIntosh were: J Angus (1750-1830) and Jean McCoy (xxxx-xxxx). The records seem to indicate that the McIntoshs were from Moore County, North Carolina.

The client had also noted that a family history note indicated that Manley was born in South Carolina but grew to manhood in Edmonson County, Kentucky. He stated that he had not followed up on this because Edmonson was not a county until 1825 and was drawn from Grayson, Hart, and Warren Counties. In addition, Hart County had been created in 1819 from Barren County and Hardin County. The client noted that if Jacob was in Warren in 1810-1819ish before he was in Trigg in 1820, he would have been near Logan County prior to a move to Trigg County. Trigg. Since Manley's father was enumerated in the 1820 U. S. Census for Trigg County and 1821 Trigg County tax lists, it is apparent that he was at least eight year old when the family arrived in Trigg County. The client wanted to take a look at pre-Edmonson County area records from 1810-1819.

Procedure and Results:

All research was conducted in original records from the locations cited. Work started with looking at census records for the sibling spouses families in Christian and Trigg County, Kentucky. This was done to determine how early these families were there. This was done first to determine the likelihood of the need to search tax lists for these other families in the Edmonson County area which would be searched. The next step was to look in the area that became Edmonson County, Kentucky. Edmonson County, Kentucky was created from Grayson, Hart, and Warren Counties on 1 February 1825. The northwest section was drawn from Grayson County. The north east section was drawn from Hart County. Hart County was created from Barren and Hardin Counties in 1819. The entire southern section of Edmonson County was drawn from Warren County. Tax lists for these counties will be examined for the period of about 1810-1819. Since the client has easy access to records available at Ancestry.com, time will not be spent in copying and labeling these records. They will simply be abstracted for study purposes.

4. "Kentucky, County Marriage Records, 1783-1965" for James Hill in Christian County, Kentucky.

There were two marriages in the 1820s for a James Hill. These records at Ancestry.com come from the Christian County, Kentucky Marriage Register. There may be loose original papers which also exist for the marriages.

Bond date: 2 February 1825. James Hill to Nancy Quisenbury. No return.

Comment: The two marriages, both in the 1820s, suggests that there may be two men named James Hill. The above census may not be the man of interest as far as the Blanchard family. The marriage register for Christian County, Kentucky available at Ancestry.com does not give clues to the identity of the two men named "James Hill." The client's findings of 1829 purchases of land in Brown County, Illinois next to Manley Tillet Blanchard and not far from Wade Blanchard, also suggests that the 1830 census above may not be the correct James Hill in Christian County, Kentucky. The James Hill of interest, probable brother of Tillet Blanchard's wife, could well be the James Hill who married Nancy Temple listed below and the one in the 1830 Morgan County, Illinois census listed below.

Bond date: 3 April 1824. James Hill to Nancy Temple. Solemnized April 1824 by John Bobbett.

The only other marriage for a "Temple" surname individual in Christian County, Kentucky was for the following:

Bond date: July 28, 1827. Nimrod Parker and Winny Temple. Married 7 November 1827 by Archibald Bowles, MG.

Comment: Records are frequently mislabeled at FamilySearch.org and at Ancestry.com and at libraries everywhere. People doing the filming and working on the catalog do the best they can, but cannot be expected to know record types in every location. These records are clearly marriage bonds and returns, and not marriage licenses as they are labeled by FamilySearch.

James Hill, 1 white male (0-4), 1 white male (20-29), 2 white females (0-4), 1 white female (5-9), 1 white female (20-29).

Comment: This might be a more reasonable household for James Hill in the 1830 census than in Christian County, Kentucky, since Wade Blanchard was known to have been associated with James Hill and married in Morgan County in 1830. The household does match that of James Hill in 1840 in Van Buren County, Iowa. However, it should also be noted that there was a James Hill of approximately the same age living in Hopkins County, Kentucky and in Christian County, Kentucky during this period. A quick look at Christian County, Kentucky tax lists for the period did not reveal two men named James Hill.

Comment: Notice that there is only one James Hill in the tax lists during the period when the two James Hill marriages took place. These individual tax lists were not copied in order to save time since nothing definitive has been located here. The James Hill listed in the tax lists is probably related to the Garland Hill in the area but all the Hill families could certainly be related. A search for Nimrod Parker who married Winny Temple in census records revealed the following.

9. 1850 U. S. Census, Christian County, Kentucky, District 1, p. 474B, Nimrod Parker household, NARA film M432, roll 196.

Family 694.

Nimrod Parker, 57, real estate valued at $200, born SC.

Winney Parker, 62, born NC.

Mary A. Mc Eli, 6, born Ky.

Jas P Faraner, 4, born Ky.

Comment: Later census records show that the above family stayed in the Christian and Hopkins County, Kentucky area. No Temple families were found in the census indexes for Christian County or Hopkins County, Kentucky before 1850. A quick examination of the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists around the time that the Temple girls married revealed no men named Temple.

10. Christian County, Kentucky, Tax Lists, 1821-1828, FHL film 7927.

There were no Temple entries. The closest name is spelling was James Tendall.

Marriage Bond date: 2 February 1825. James Hill and Nancy Quisonbury.

Surety: John Hanback.

Both James Hill and John Hanback signed their names.

Note that the outside of the folded marriage bond cites the Jas Hill to Commonwealth bond as 2 February 1825. This is labeled as a "M. L. Bond," a marriage license bond. FamilySearch.org labels the bride of Jas Hill on this documents as "M. L. Bond." [Unbelievable!]

Comment: I believe that this bond is for the James Hill who stayed in Christian and Hopkins County, Kentucky and is not the brother of Elizabeth (Hill) Blanchard. Remember that this James Hill could sign his name while the one who married Nancy Temple could not.

12. Christian County, Kentucky, Marriage Bonds and Returns, 1832-1838, loose original records [labeled as "Marriage Licenses 1827" at FamilySearch.org], Tillett Blancett and Betsy Hill, 1832, FHL film 466784. [See Attachment 2-4.]

Marriage Return [Certificate]

Marriage date: 11 October 1832. Tillett Blancett and Betsy Hill

Married by: Leml Clark, Justice of the Peace.

Comment: I was hoping for a consent or the actual bond that might provide Betsy's father or relative; no such luck. A quick look at Temple and Hill entries, perhaps guardian records, was made next in Christian County. I checked the Will Abstract books below first since the book is indexed.

13. Cordelia C. Gary, Abstracts of Will Books 1797-1900 Christian County, Kentucky (Hopkinsville, Kentucky: By the author, n. d.).

No James Hill or entries implying Betsy Hill Blanchard listed in any Hill wills for the period. No wills for Temple.

Comment: Separate guardian bond books do not begin in Christian County until 1824. County Court Order Books were checked next to determine whether information can quickly be obtained from these records. It really depends upon how the clerk indexed these or if they are indexed.

The indexes for these books are certainly not "every name" but do usually list estates by name.

Book A, 1797-1805. No Temple entries specifically cited in the "Ts" of the index. There were no indexed "Hs." Pages for road crews were listed by name of the road but these were not examined at this time.

Book B1, 1805-1809. Index at the end of the book. No Hill entries in the "Hs." There were road crew pages by the name of the road. These were not examined at this time. There were no "T" entries in the book.

Book B2, 1808-1814. No Temple entries. The book is missing the index for Hs.

Book C, 1814-1819. The index for this books appears to have been loose pages which were torn out and filmed. There were no Hill entries in the Hs. There was a page listings of road crews by name of the road. These were not examined at this time. There were no "T" index pages.

5 November 1821.

“On Motion of [? Could be Lenard or Samuel] Bouldin his Appointed Guardian for James Hill one of the Heirs of Sarah Samuels late of Caswell County North Carolina Whereupon the Said Bouldin together with Garland Hill his Security entered unto and Acknowledged Bond in the penalty of two hundred dollars Condition according to law.”

Comment: There was no Sarah Samuels will listed in the will book abstracts for Christian County cited earlier. This James Hill would have been under 21 in 1821 suggesting a birth year of 1801 or later, probably later since a guardian was appointed by the court. Recall that the James Hill associated with Manley Tillet Blanchard was born about 1805 according to the 1850 census cited earlier. We still cannot determine whether this man, an heir of Sarah Samuels, is the same one associated with Manley Tillet Blanchard or not. More work is needed there. However, if it is him, then a place, Caswell County, North Carolina is suggested. The association with Garland Hill could simply imply that there is a connection to all the Hills in the county. The apparent two James Hills could certainly be related.

At this point, a quick look at Ancestry.com records for Sarah Samuels in Caswell County, North Carolina was made without quick success. A good search of this clue would required more time than is available here. Later, page by page examination of the road crews might reveal Blanchards and their neighbors. This could be done at some future date but did not seem worthwhile for the current goals.

The next step was to examine the possible Edmonson County, Kentucky connection for the Blanchards.

Comment: Hardin County, Kentucky is one of the few counties in Kentucky where the County Court Clerk's office provided free access to digital images of many of their records. This was examined for the Blissit or Blessed family above to determine whether there were other spellings of the name. The Hardin County, Kentucky Deed original deed indexes showed George Blissitt with a deed from Joseph Roberts in Deed Book C:372. It would be a stretch to call this Blanchard but these individuals should probably be kept in mind. I am not sure how this name was pronounced.

Summary and Conclusions:

No evidence was found to suggest that the Jacob Blanchard family was in the area that would have become Edmonson County, Kentucky during the period 1810 through 1820. Edmonson County was created from Grayson, Hart, and Warren Counties in February 1825. Hart County was created from Barren and Hardin Counties in April 1819. All of these counties' tax lists were examined, allowing almost complete yearly study of men in the area that would have later been part of Edmonson County, Kentucky during the period 1810 through 1820.⁵¹ No entries were located for anyone named Blanchard or similar spelling. There were Blissett surname individuals in Hardin County, Kentucky, but none of them were named Jacob.⁵² Since no apparent connections to Blanchards were found in these areas, no additional records were examined.

Work was started on the spouses of the children of the Jacob Blanchard. Most of this concentrated on the Hill family since the client had done less work there than on the families of the other spouses. Manley Tillet Blanchard had married Elizabeth Hill,⁵³ who was according to the client the sister of James Hill. James Hill was an associate of both Manley Tillet Blanchard and his brother, Wade Blanchard, after they left Kentucky.⁵⁴ Only one James Hill was listed in

Christian County, Kentucky tax lists for the period of 1821 through 1829.⁵⁵ Only one James Hill was listed in the Christian County, Kentucky 1830 census⁵⁶ but there was a James Hill in Morgan County, Illinois 1830 census⁵⁷ where Wade Blanchard married.⁵⁸

Listed below is a chronology showing the findings and suggested relationships to known information concerning James Hill, Manley Tillet Blanchard, and Wade H. Blanchard:

- 1812. Manley Tillet Blanchard was born about 1812 in Virginia.⁵⁹ He apparently left Kentucky prior to turning 21.⁶⁰ Manley Tillet Blanchard and Wade H. Blanchard were associated and assumed to be brother although this is implied by association rather than more direct single document proof. The birthplaces here may or may not be correct for these two men.

- 1812. Wade H. Blanchard was born about 1812 in Kentucky.⁶¹ He also apparently left Kentucky prior to turning 21 and was not listed in the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists.⁶²

- 1821. A Mr. Bouldin was appointed as guardian in Christian County, Kentucky for a James Hill, one of the heirs of Sarah Samuels, late of Caswell County, North Carolina with Garland Hill as security in Christian County, Kentucky County Court on 5 November 1821.⁶³ The identity of this James Hill has not been determine with certainty. This James Hill would have been underage which fits the ages implied for either the James Hill in the 1830 Christian County, Kentucky census⁶⁴ or the 1830 Morgan County, Illinois census,⁶⁵ since both of those two men were listed as aged 20-29. The James Hill in the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists would have been above 21 in 1824⁶⁶ but that also does not narrow the field. At this point, it cannot be determined how many men named James Hill of about the same age there were in Christian County.

1824. James Hill married Nancy Temple in April 1824 in Christian County, Kentucky. James Hill had taken out a bond for the marriage license on 3 April 1824 with Jacob Blanshet acting as his surety. Both men signed the bond with their marks.⁶⁷ This is probably the James Hill who was associated with Wade and Manley Tillet Blanchard. The only other Temple entry found was for the marriage of Nimrod Parker and Winny Temple in 1827.
1825. A James Hill married Nancy Quisonbury on 2 February 1825 in Christian County, Kentucky. The bond for the marriage was created with John Hanback as surety. Both James Hill and John Hanback signed their names.⁶⁸ There was no return for this marriage. This entry fits best with the James Hill who was listed in the 1824-1829 Christian County, Kentucky tax lists⁶⁹ and in the 1830 Christian County, Kentucky census.⁷⁰
1827. Winny Temple married Nimrod Parker on 7 November 1827 in Christian County, Kentucky. Nimrod Parker and his surety, Jacob Blancett had taken out a bond to obtain the licenses on 28 July 1827.⁷¹ It is interesting that Jacob Blanchard acted as surety for both of the Temple girls' marriages.

1821-1829.

There were no Temple entries in Christian County, Kentucky tax lists. Between 1822 and 1829, there were entries for Garland Hill, Nehemiah Hill, two men named John Hill, and beginning in 1824, one man named James Hill. There was never more than one James Hill listed in the tax lists for the years studied,⁷² even though there were two marriages for men named James Hill in Christian County during the 1820s.

1830. Wade H. Blanchard married Mary Pille on 23 September 1830 in Morgan County, Illinois.⁷³

1830. James Hill and family were listed in the Christian County, Kentucky federal census.⁷⁵
1832. Manley Tillet Blanchard married Elizabeth Hill on 11 October 1832 in Christian County, Kentucky.⁷⁶
1836. Tillet Blanchard and Wade Blanchard were reported to have moved to the Pea Ridge township in Brown County, Illinois by 1836. This date was reported in the county history published in 1882, so the date could be slightly off based upon the source of the information at the time.⁷⁷ Brown County, Illinois and Morgan County, Illinois are adjacent Illinois Counties in the 1830s.
1838. Tillet Blanchard paid taxes in Christian County, Kentucky on four horses.⁷⁸ This was the only year during the period prior from the 1830s to 1855 in which he paid taxes in Christian County.
1840. Manley Tillet Blanchard and family were listed in the 1840 federal census of Van Buren County, Iowa.⁷⁹
1840. James Hill and family were listed in the 1840 federal census of Van Buren County, Iowa adjacent to M. T. Blanchard.⁸⁰

1850. Manley Tillet Blanchard and wife, Elizabeth was listed in the 1850 Wapello County, Iowa federal census.⁸³ The reported birth places of his children fit well with his movement from Illinois back to Kentucky about 1838 then to Iowa.
1850. James Hill and apparent wife, Nancy was listed with their children in 1850 Wappello County, Iowa census within two households of Manly T. Blanchard and family.⁸⁴ James Hill, age 45, was listed as born in Kentucky and his wife, Nancy, age 46, was born in South Carolina. Their oldest child in the household, age 18, was born in Illinois. The third child in the household, aged 10, was born in Iowa.

Suggestions for Possible Next Steps:

The allowed time for the current block of work has been used. At this point, it has not been determined whether there was one or more than one James Hill of about the correct age in Christian County who could have been the associate of Manley Tillet Blanchard and Wade H. Blanchard. There are appear to be two men named James Hill but more work is needed to determine this with certainty. One interesting record did point toward Caswell County, North Carolina and a relative, Sarah Samuels, for one of the men named James Hill. However, even though this should probably could have been searched, this researcher felt that the client should examine the current findings in light of his own needs prior to beginning additional work. With that in mind, the following future steps might be taken.

- Determine how the various Hill families are connected and where they lived relative to Jacob Blanchard in Christian County, Kentucky.
- Determine how Sarah Samuels of Caswell County, North Carolina is related to the other Hill families and whether James Hill associated with the Blanchards is her heir This could be a difficult step.
- Examine Hopkins County, Kentucky tax lists to determine when any of the Blanchards moved there and whether Manley Tillet Blanchard, Wade H. Blanchard, or James Hill were enumerated there at any time prior to their moves out of Kentucky.

Date: 25 September 2019.

Authorization: 10 hours.

Goal: Determine the parents of Clarinda (Conner) McElroy wife of James B. McElroy.

Background:

According to a summary document by the client, dated 8 September 2019, Clarinda (Mary) Conner was the client's 2nd great grandmother. He believes that she was born in what is now West Virginia in 1830, possibly Wood County. Her daughter, Indiana (Anna), was the wife of Manley Tillet Blanchard, son of Jacob Blanchard of Christian County, Kentucky.

Clarinda married James B. McElroy in Wood County, Virginia [now West Virginia] on 26 June 1853¹. According to the client, they left the area moving through Indiana to Boone County, Iowa to be enumerated in the 1856 Iowa Census. Their oldest daughter, Indiana, was born in Indiana in 1854. The Iowa census of 1856 suggests that they had been residents of Boone County, Iowa for two years.

Both James B. McElroy and Clarinda were buried on a hillside in Van Buren County, Iowa just north of Selma and south of Eldon. They were buried alongside their daughter, Indiana. The cemetery is called "Iowaville" and was the burial site of Chief Blackhawk.

The client's research shows the family enumerated in the 1860 Jefferson County, Iowa census in Des Moines. The family was listed as J. B. McElroy, 52, born Pennsylvania; Clarinda, aged 29, born Virginia; Indiana, aged 6, born Indiana; and with two younger children born in Iowa.² According to the client, James B. was a Protestant Methodist minister. He was not an Episcopal Methodist minister like his brother, John. His father was a minister before the church split in the 1830s over such things as slavery. The Protestant Methodists rejected slavery and about everything else; no alcohol, no tobacco, no work on Sunday, etc. The client's research has shown that the Protestant Methodists did not keep good records. There is no record that James B had a church. He may have been a circuit rider. The client has good records for James B.'s father, Archibald and his service as a minister.

The client believes that there is a possibility that the Clarinda lived in Ohio for a time prior to her marriage. He has located a census entry in the 1850 Columbus, Franklin County, Ohio census for Mary C. [or possibly Mercy C] Conner; aged 20 living in what may have been a boarding house³. The 1870 census does show Clarinda as M. C. McElroy.⁴ James B. McElroy's brother, John, had a Methodist church in the next county and was also a shoemaker in that county (Lancaster, Ohio).

Since Clarinda Conner married James B. McElroy in Wood County, Virginia, the client has done some work in what was later West Virginia on potential parents of Clarinda McElroy. A survey of Conner families in Virginia counties that would later become West Virginia, has shown a number of families with daughters of the age to be Clarinda in Ohio County, Tyler County, and Cabell Counties, Virginia in the 1830 and 1840 U. S. censuses.⁵ The client has not located Clarinda McElroy in Wood County, Virginia [later West Virginia] in 1850 or in counties surrounding Wood County. A survey by the client of Virginia marriages prior to 1860 in counties that would become West Virginia has revealed Conner marriages in Wood County, Cabell County, Ohio County, and Tyler County. Nothing definitive has been found.

The client makes several assumptions which may help with the research. He assumes that the James Conner, aged 23, in Wood County in the 1850 census could be Clarinda's brother based on her marriage in Wood County in 1853 and the minister living in the same district as James. The client leans toward John Conner of Tyler County being Clarinda's father. John Conner married Elizabeth Smith on 11 January 1824 in Tyler county. The client speculates that births for James born in 1827 and Clarinda born in 1830 would not conflict with the marriage date. Clarinda indicated in the 1880 census that her father was from Scotland⁶. The client believes that this John was in Tyler County, West Virginia in 1825. On the 1830 census, his family included a female under 5. In the 1840 census, the family had a female 10-14.

The client found a 'James McElroy' in the Lancaster newspaper in June of 1853 attending a Temperance Committee Meeting in Columbus, Ohio. The same Lancaster newspaper mentioned his brother, John, and another brother that ran a newspaper in Lancaster before moving to Oregon to start the first newspaper in that state. So, it appears that the James McElroy at the temperance meeting could be the client's James B. If the Connor in Columbus in 1850 was the client's Connor, she would have been in Columbus as was James B. The couple could have been married about the time of the temperance meeting. It is known that James was about 20 years older than Clarinda.

After James' death in 1865, Clarinda left Jefferson County, Iowa and moved to the town of Eldon, Iowa where her two sons ultimately got jobs on the railroad. She was listed in Eldon, Wapello County, Iowa in the 1870 U. S. census⁷; in the 1880 U. S. Census⁸, and in the 1885 State census.⁹

Procedure and Results:

Work was conducted using original records available as digital images through Ancestry.com, FamilySearch.org, and other named sites. Original sources will be cited with film numbers for material from these sources where available. The following records were searched with the results listed. The client supplied no original records. Some retracing of records was done to look for additional clues. Work began with a study of possible records which might reveal relationships. Copies were not made of documents to which the client has easy access in order to save time.

30 November 1847. John M. Conner will.

- To wife, Elizabeth, all personal estate and at her death to her children.
- To George Freed all land; to pay debts; to school sons named Jesse and Ralph; to have use of Jesse and Ralph's labor until they come of age; to supply Jesse and Ralph $100 when they come of age; to supply grand daughter, Martha Isabel $50 when she comes of age; to pay son, James, $5 within three years of my death; to pay daughter, Sarah Ann, $5.
- If George Freed fails to comply then land to go to wife, Elizabeth during her life and then to Jesse and Ralph "by their paying James Sarah Ann and Martha Isabel fore mentioned sums."
- Enos Smith appointed executor.

Matthias Scott
 John Smith (of James)

John M. Conner, his mark

Proved in December 1847 Court of Tyler County, Virginia by oaths of Matthias Scott and John Smith of James.

Comment: This will cannot be assumed to include all the children of John M. Conner. However, one would suspect that an unmarried, under aged daughter would have been included. The directive to George Freed to receive land and take care of bequests suggests that he might be a son-in-law. We do know that John M. Conner died in either late November or early December 1847. Since Clarinda would have been unmarried at this point, her not being included in the will suggests that she is not the daughter of John M. Conner. A small amount of additional work was done just to be sure that nothing obvious points in a different direction.

 Marriage: Edward Pigott and Elizabeth Conner, 4 November 1852.

Comment: This last marriage could be the marriage of the widowed Elizabeth Conner. This needs further investigation if this family proves to be important in the future. Obviously, George Freed was John M. Conner's son-in-law. These marriages were not copied since the client has easy access to these images.

 Jesse [Conner], age 14, male, born [Virginia].
 Ralph [Conner], age 11, male, born [Virginia].
 Martha Conner, age 6, female, born Virginia.

Comment: The Martha Conner above could easily be Martha Isabel, the grand daughter, mentioned in John M. Conner's will. The census was not copied since the client has easy access to these images.

A search for the census records for Edward and Elizabeth Pigott yielded no positive results in Ohio or Virginia. The client has already reported on James Conner, 24, and Sarah, 22 with their child, Rachel in the 1850 Wood County, Virginia census. That could be James Conner, son of Elizabeth and John M. Conner.

There were several deeds in which the McElroy Township Board of Education purchased lots. Deed Book 3:264-272, 4:143. There were no other McElroy as grantee deeds.

Comment: These were the only Conner deeds in which a Conner was listed as the purchaser during the time period listed. There were no McElroy individual buyers. Work on the John M. Conner family will stop at this point. Some information on James B. McElroy's siblings could be useful. The will of Archibald McElroy in Pennsylvania and some of the client's work his children, siblings of James B. McElroy were examined next in order to look for possible associations as work continues on the Conners/McElroy families.

10. Washington County, Pennsylvania, Will Book 4: 228-229, FHL film 863625.

The client had reported the death of James B. McElroy's father as 22 May 1826. The will was examined to obtain a list of siblings for James B. McElroy and look for possible additional clues.

22 May 1826. Will of Archibald McElroy of West Middleton, Washington County, Pennsylvania. Names wife: Anna.

Children: Margaret Deamport [Davenport], John McElroy, Sarah McElroy, George McElroy, James McElroy, Asbury McElroy, Genas [Tenas or Zenas?] McElroy, Archibald McElroy, Esther Ann McElroy, and Thornton F. McElroy.

Comment: This was not copied or abstracted since the client already has this material. Since the client reports James B. McElroy's wife as Sarah Barton, Anna is assumed to be Archibald's second wife. This will be all that is done here on the siblings of James McElroy since the purpose was simply to understand possible associates.

11. The client's tree at Ancestry.com lists the following useful information about James B. McElroy's siblings:

Margaret married Benjamin Davenport in 1825 in Belmont County, Ohio; 1830 and 1840 censuses in Belmont County, Ohio; 1850 in Guernsey County, Ohio, and 1860 and 1870 in Tyler County, Virginia/West Virginia.

John McElroy married Acha Devol before 1827; 1830 Harrison County, Ohio census; 1840 Belmont County, Ohio census; 1850 Fairfield County, Ohio census; 1865 McDonough County, Illinois State Census.

Sarah McElroy married Robert Carlisle in 1828 in Belmont County, Ohio; children born in Ohio 1832-1842; Sarah listed as widowed or divorced in 1856 in Henry County, Iowa.

George McElroy married Nancy Hanna Eschallot in 1832 in Harrison County, Ohio; in 1840, 1850, 1860, and 1870 Harrison County, Ohio censuses.

Comment: Some time will be spent next to determine whether any Conner associations can be found in locations where James B. McElroy's siblings lived.

12. 1830 U. S. Census, Belmont County, Ohio, NARA film M19, roll 127 and 1840 U. S. Census, Belmont County, Ohio, NARA film M704, roll 378.

Benjamin and Margaret Davenport lived in the Warren area of Belmont County when the 1830 and 1840 censuses were taken. John McElroy and family lived there in 1840 in Union township. There were no Conner families in this Warren township in 1830 or 1840 and none in Union township in 1840.

13. 1830 U. S. Census, Harrison County, Ohio, NARA film M19, roll 133; 1840 U. S. Census, Harrison County, Ohio, NARA film M704, roll 402.

John McElroy lived in Harrison County, Ohio in 1830. There were Conner families lived in Harrison County in both censuses studied. No association could be found.

Comment: At this point, this tactic was abandoned. After seeing the number of Conner families in both West Virginia and Ohio during the period when Clarinda would have been born, this type of comparison does not seem valuable based upon the number of possibilities. Other tactics would seem more worthwhile.

14. 1850 U. S. Census, all Ohio counties, Virginia counties, and Pennsylvania counties for Conner or similarly spelled names for females born 1828-1832, search at Ancestry.com.

Even though the client had proposed that the Mary C. Conner in the Columbus Ward 4 of Franklin County, Ohio was his ancestor, I believe that this conclusion is premature. There are too many females of this age with similar names and ages to draw this conclusion. None were listed as Clarinda or a similar spelling.

Comment: At this point, the allowed time is beginning to run out and no further work will be done on the potential parents of Clarinda (Conner) McElroy at this point.

Summary and Conclusions:

Throughout this work, the client has continued to add and subtract information to what was considered to be background for the current study. Even though, this was potentially useful, it required and inordinate amount of time as this researcher shifted directions to follow his potential new clues. Very little of consequence has been found other than perhaps to suggest that some of the client's posted information in his Ancestry.com family tree is premature.

The most important information which this researcher can contribute concerns the number of Conner families who could potentially be the parents of Clarinda (Conner) McElroy. There are simply too many families with daughters born between 1828 and 1823 to use early census records as clues for her parents. She has not been found in Ohio, Virginia, or Pennsylvania as an unmarried female in the 1850 census. Looking for females under the age of 5 in 1830 or under 15 in 1840 in the federal census records would seem not to be a productive tactic.

The marriage record for Clarinda Conner and James B. McElroy in Wood County, Virginia in 1853 does exist.¹⁰ However, there does not seem to be an available bond for the marriage extant which would show possible permissions or a surety who might be a relative. Women normally married in their counties of residence. Even though there may be tax lists for 1853 in existence, this researcher only has easy access to tax lists for this county through 1850. Since examination of tax lists is very time consuming, a search of 1853 tax lists or an examination of the 1850 tax lists was not done in this block of work with the goal of potentially determining what Conner families might have been living in Wood County in 1853. There were no Conner wills or deeds found in Wood County which might show a potential relationship to Clarinda.

The client had suggested that John M. Conner who was listed in the 1830 Tyler County, Virginia census could be Clarinda's father. John M. Conner did leave a will on 30 November 1847 in Tyler County, Virginia.¹¹ The will named his wife, Elizabeth; underage sons, Jesse and Ralph; son, James; grand daughter, Martha Isabel; and daughter Sarah Ann. He named Enos Smith as his executor and appointed George Freed to take care of his land and distribute money.¹² George Freed had married his daughter, Sarah Ann in October of 1847.¹³ The marriage between John

Conner and Elizabeth Smith on 11 January 1824 in Tyler County¹⁴ would seem to be the John M. Conner and Elizabeth above.

Clarinda Conner would have been an underage, unmarried female when John M. Conner wrote his will in 1847. Even though, there is a chance that John M. Conner did not name all of his children in the will, it is more likely that John M. Conner and Elizabeth (Smith) Conner are simply not Clarinda Conner's parents. Despite client's proposal that James Conner could be Clarinda's brother, this is probably not the case.

In conclusion, John M. Conner of Tyler County, Virginia seems not to be the father of Clarinda Conner. No clues have been found which suggests which Conner family might contain the parents of Clarinda Conner in the current research. In fact, there is no good evidence that suggests that Clarinda was from the part of Virginia that became West Virginia. She could have grown up in any part of Virginia. Additional work on the James B. McElroy/Clarinda Conner family across time, looking for associations with Conner families, is probably the best suggestion for the next step. Examination of any potential connections to families in Wood County, Virginia around 1853 might also be useful. This researcher does not propose further work on the family until the client has completed his related research.

Goals:

- Who were the parents of James and Elizabeth Hill of Christian County, Kentucky?
- Can a link be established between the Blanchards of Christian County, Kentucky and the Hill and McIntosh families before their arrival in Kentucky, possibly in Moore County, North Carolina.

Background:

Wade Blanchard, Manley Tillett Blanchard, and James Hill were all associated after they left Kentucky. Manley Tillett Blansett married Elizabeth “Betsy” Hill in Christian County, Kentucky on 11 October 1832. Samuel Clark, J.P. solemnized the marriage.¹ James Hill took out a bond to marry Nancy Temple on 3 April 1824 in Christian County, Kentucky with Jacob Blanchard acting as surety.² Wade Blanchard married Mary Pille on 23 September 1830 in Morgan County, Illinois.³ James Hill and Elizabeth Hill are believed by the client to be siblings.

Wade H. Blanchard, Manley Tillett Blanchard’s probable brother, married in Morgan County, Illinois to Mary Pille on 23 September 1830.⁴ Wade Blanchard never paid taxes as a young man in Christian County, Kentucky. There was a James Hill family listed in the 1830 Morgan County, Illinois census who could have been the James Hill who married Nancy Temple since he was often associated with the Blanchard brothers.⁵ However, there was also a James Hill family of approximately the same age and composition enumerated in the 1830 Christian County,

Kentucky census.⁶ There had also been a James Hill who had married a Nancy Quisenbury in Christian County, Kentucky in February 1825.⁷ Manley Tillett Blanchard and Wade H. Blanchard were reported to have moved to the northern part of Pea Ridge township in Brown County, Illinois by 1836.⁸ In 1838 Manley Tillett Blanchard was back in Christian County, Kentucky for one year, assessed for taxes on four horses.⁹ By 1840, Manley Tillett Blanchard was enumerated as M. T. Blanchard adjacent to the James Hill household in the Van Buren County, Iowa census.¹⁰ In 1847, Manley Tillett Blanchard was enumerated in the Wapello County, Iowa state census.¹¹ By 1850, James and Nancy Hill were listed within two households of Manley Tillett and Elizabeth Blanchard in the Wapello County, Iowa federal census.¹²

Elizabeth (Hill) Blanchard was born 9 January 1808 based upon calculations from her age at her death on 20 July 1883. Her grave marker in the Sterner Cemetery in Wapello County, Iowa showed that she was 75 years, 6 months, and 11 days old at her death.¹³ James Hill seems to have also been buried in the Sterner Cemetery. He died 4 September 1889 at age 85.¹⁴ James Hill was listed as aged 45 born in Kentucky in the 1850 census.¹⁵ Elizabeth (Hill) Blanchard was also listed as born in Kentucky in the 1850 census.¹⁶

There were a number of "Hill" surname men above 21 listed in the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists from 1822 through 1829¹⁷ about the period that James Hill¹⁸ and Elizabeth Hill¹⁹ married their spouses. In November 1821, Christian County, Kentucky, County Court Order Book F showed a guardian, Samuel or Lenard Bouldin, having been appointed for a James Hill, an heir of Sarah Samuels late of Caswell County, North Carolina with Garland Hill acting as security.²⁰

Keeping in mind that the Blanchard, McIntosh, Temple, and Hill families were all associated in Christian County, Kentucky, a small amount of work has been done in North Carolina early census indexes. The client has located the following individuals in the 1790 U. S. Census for Moore County, North Carolina²¹ which could be significant.

The work will begin with a search for the parents of Elizabeth and James Hill. If time remains, additional work will be attempted to see whether a connection exists between the Hill, McIntosh, Temple, and Blanchard families prior to their move to Kentucky. Some secondary sources from the researcher's personal library will also be examined to save time.

Procedure and Results:

Most of the work will be done in digitized original records available at FamilySearch.org. These will be cited using the film numbers from which they came. The sources of other records will be listed as they are used. Census records for Hill families in Christian County, Kentucky will be examined first along with other records related to these families.

Garland Hill.

Recall that Garland Hill had acted as security for the bond for the guardian of James Hill in 1821.²²

Garland Hill, 1 white male 50-59, 1 white female 15-19, 1 white female 30-39, 1 white female 60-69.

Comment: Notice that the 1820 census does contain a male who could, by age, be James Hill and a female who could, by age, be Elizabeth Hill. No male matching James Hill's age was in the 1830 census. Of course, James Hill had already married by that time. There was still a young female who could be Elizabeth Hill in the household in 1830 but by age the female 15-19 would be too young. However, since Elizabeth Hill could have been as old as 25 when she married, there could have been some stretching of the truth to make the almost spinster age of Elizabeth [at about 23] seem younger. This needs more work.

Based upon an Ancestry.com search, there was a Garland Hill in the 1800 U. S. Census for Caswell County, North Carolina which is what might be expected from the order book entry discussed earlier in which he served as a security to a guardian bond. This man may have died in Tazewell County, Illinois in 1852.

Comment: The two John Hills above do not seem to be the same man. There were no other Hill entries for 1820 than those above. Below are the additional entries. Based upon the tax lists for Christian County, discussed later in this report, there was another John Hill also called John P. Hill, in Christian County between 1813 and 1819 who owned land. His land became part of Todd County when it was formed in 1820. He is listed below.

Comment: There was no James Hill entry or female entry matching the household in 1820. Tax lists may provide more information. Obviously, the James Hill household below is not the same one as the one above. There was no James Hill household in the 1820 Todd County, Kentucky census.

Comment: By age, this could be the James Hill of interest. However, recall that there was also a James Hill in the 1830 Morgan County, Illinois census on page 92 and that Wade Blanchard was also in that area then. This may or may not be the James Hill married to Nancy Temple.

Recall that there was also a James Hill who married Nancy Quisenbury who took out a bond in Christian County, Kentucky to marry on 2 February 1825. This date had been located through Ancestry.com. The above 1830 census entry could be that James Hill and Nancy (Quisenbury) Hill. A quick look was done in the original marriage bonds in the attempt to determine whether the surety for the marriage bond gave clues.

 Both James Hill and John Hanback signed the bond.

William A. Brown and Edward Brown attested to the clerk that Nancy Quisenbury, daughter of James Quisenbury was 21 years old.

Comment: The family below seems to match the 1830 household of James Hill above. The above James Hill may have died. This also suggests that the above James hill was the one who married Nancy Quisenbury and not Nancy Temple.

Comment: Additional tax lists should be studied to get a better picture of the Hill family.

Comment: This was copied because it could have been the widowed Rebecca Hill remarrying. However, the Danl and Rebeca Pendleton household in the 1850 Christian County, Kentucky Census, p. 464a, family 537, showed a Rebecca of age 28 which would be too young to be the woman in the 1830 census.

Additional work will be done in Christian County, Kentucky tax lists at this point to determine who was living in Christian County around the time of James and Elizabeth Hill's births. This will be added to information previously collected on the "Hill" surname in tax lists to make a more complete picture.

The study of the tax lists began at about the time of the birth of James Hill who married Nancy Temple in 1805 to determine whether there were Hill surname families living in Christian County, Kentucky at that time. Early tax lists up to 1810 were divided into two districts. Tax assessors during this period traveled door to door. After 1810, individuals paid taxes in their militia companies. In some cases, the tax lists showed these divisions by company and not in other years. After 1810, the tax lists cannot be reliably used to determine next door neighbors or individuals of the same name in the same household, but one can make the case that younger men may have been standing near their family in their militia companies. When groups of men of the same name are listed adjacent to each other, this has been noted. It should also be noted that the land described by watercourses were not necessarily directly on the watercourse but were drained by the watercourse. All information was self-reported by the person being taxed so sometimes the land would be described as being on a small creek and at other times as being on the larger creek or river into which the small creek ran. Acreage would also vary across time as well as descriptions of who originally had entered the land for the original land grant. Even though these descriptors all vary, they can still be used to identify tracts of land. Later lists gave much less information about individual tracts of land.

The 1810 census for Christian County enumerated two men with the surname "Hill" and their families. These were John Hill and James Hill. John Hill was above 45 suggesting a birth year of before 1765. James Hill was between 26 and 44 suggesting a birth year of 1766 and 1784. Since James Hill had two children under ten, he was probably on the lower end of this age range. The Garland Hill. [This would be the man listed in the 1820 census above who was above 45. Recall that his grave marker listed his birth as 1780.]

Garland Hill seems to be associated with the only younger James Hill listed in the Christian County tax lists from about 1822 through 1838. Garland Hill was also associated with several of other young men without property. All of these were probably his sons. The Ancestry.com tree called the Burgess-Hill Family Tree by Sonya Randal listed Garland Hill's first marriage as being Phebe Samuels whom he married in 1793 in Caroline County, Virginia. Phebe Samuel's mother was Sarah.

Recall that in the previous work a Christian County Court entry has shown the appointment of a guardian for the minor, James Hill, as an heir of Sarah Samuels of Caswell County, North Carolina. Leonard Bouldin had been appointed guardian on November 5, 1821 with Garland Hill acting as his security for the bond.²³ This James Hill would have been under 21 at this point. Previously, there had been some thought that the James Hill listed here was the same one who was in the tax lists and also the same one who married Nancy Temple. However, the tax lists and other records suggest that this is not true and that this James Hill was probably the son of Garland Hill and Phoebe Samuels. Phoebe was probably deceased at this point since Sarah Samuels was leaving her grandson property which required the appointment of a guardian to protect his estate. This seems to be supported by the tax lists. Additional work will probably not be done here since this younger James Hill is probably the one who married Nancy Quisenbury and not the one who married Nancy Temple.

Leonard Bouldin tax lists were also examined to see if they showed him as a guardian for the property of James Hill. There were no separate listing for property for him as a guardian. However, I suspect based upon slight changes across time that the property was a slave. Even though only James Hill has been found as an heir of Sarah Samuels there could be other entries for Garland Hill's other sons with the same or a different guardian. If the property was a slave for all the heirs of Sarah Samuels' daughter, then it may not have come into the possession of her sons until all were able 21. This could be examined but would probably not be worth our time at this point since this does not seem to be James Hill who married Nancy Temple.

 James Hill, associated with Garland Hill, was the only man named James Hill in Christian County from 1822 through 1838. This James Hill would have been above 21 in 1822 making his birth date 1801 or before. There was a James Hill who married Nancy Quisinbury on 2 February 1825 in Christian County. This fits the James Hill associated with Garland Hill. Nancy Hill was listed with the land and property of James Hill in 1839. The James Hill associated with Garland Hill seems to have died sometime between the time taxes were assessed in 1838 and when they were assessed in 1839. There seems to be little doubt that the James Hill listed in the Christian County, Kentucky tax lists continuously from 1822 through 1838 was not the James Hill who married Nancy Temple.

At this point, we know that James Hill who married Nancy Temple and Elizabeth Hill who married Tillet Blanchard both married in Christian County. However, James Hill does not seem to have lived in Christian County after he turned 21. He, like some of the Blanchard men, may have left Christian County before turning 21. The early Hills in Christian County may be associated with James and Elizabeth Hill but this cannot be determined at this point. There may also be an association with Hills in some of the surrounding counties. Time did not allow following these suggested leads at this time.

Christian County, Kentucky deeds were examined for Hill entries in an attempt to determine the names of wives of some of the early Hill surname men.

There were only two entries for Hills in this time period.

Comment: Evidently this is the property on the East Fork of Pond River entered by Higgins upon which James Hill paid taxes in Christian County from 1809 through 1811. His wife has been identified here as Susanna. This could be helpful in locating him if future work is done. He probably originally obtained the land by grant. This could also be examined.

Summary and Conclusions:

This body of work has only eliminated some possibilities as to the father of James Hill who married Nancy Temple and Elizabeth Hill who married Tillett Blanchard and suggested some possible future work. There was not enough time to complete any additional avenues of research. The following pieces of information have been discovered.

- Even though James Hill, probably born about 1805,²⁴ married in Christian County in 1824,²⁵ he does not seem to have ever paid taxes in Christian County²⁶ prior to his being enumerated in the 1830 Morgan County, Illinois census.²⁷ He either did not live in the county or he left the county after his marriage but before he turned 21. Surrounding counties particularly Trigg, Hopkins, and Todd should be investigated for James Hill prior to 1830 to determine whether he left Kentucky before or after he turned 21. Knowing where he lived would be useful in determining his father.
- The James Blanchard who paid taxes in Christian County from 1822²⁸ through 1838²⁹ was born in 1801³⁰ or before and married Nancy Quisinbury in 1825.³¹ He was probably the son of Garland Hill³² and the grandson of Sarah Samuels.³³ He seems to have died sometime between his paying taxes in 1838³⁴ and his wife, Nancy, being assessed for taxes in 1839.³⁵

- There were no men with the surname “Hill” paying taxes in Christian County in 1805.³⁶ By 1807, there was a John Hill in the western part of Christian County in the area of the Tradewater River.³⁷ By 1809, there was a James Hill in the eastern part of Christian County in the Pond River area³⁸ In 1815, there was also a John P. Hill living in the eastern part of Christian County. His land became part of Todd County when it was created in 1820.³⁹ Obviously, James Hill who married Nancy Temple was not born in Christian County, Kentucky. However, these older men should all be investigated further.
- Elizabeth Hill would first have been listed in public records when she married. Usually women married in the county where they lived but this was not always the case. Finding James Hill’s residence prior to when he left Kentucky would be the best way to begin finding his father. Finding Elizabeth’s father and where she was born is dependent upon finding James’ father..

A small amount of information has been learned about James Hill who married Nancy Temple. Other men named James Hill have also been identified more fully. The surname “Hill” is a common name and there are many individuals of the same name. Learning more about them and more about the Temple, McIntosh, and Blanchard families must be done before a jump can be made to other states. I did some quick work in North Carolina after no time remained of the authorized time without finding any quick answers. I did learn that Moore County, North Carolina had a courthouse fire and many records were destroyed. However, there are a few unindexed records available and surrounding counties also have records. Work could easily continue and more would certainly be learned.

Helpful Hints

1. This Map's INDEX can be found on the preceding pages.
2. Refer to Map "C" to see where this Township lies within Brown County, Illinois.
3. Numbers within square brackets [] denote a multi-patentee land parcel (multi-owner). Refer to Appendix "C" for a full list of members in this group.
4. Areas that look to be crowded with Patentees usually indicate multiple sales of the same parcel (Re-issues) or Overlapping parcels. See this Township's Index for an explanation of these and other circumstances that might explain "odd" groupings of Patentees on this map.

STERNER CEMETERY

Wapello County, Iowa
Pleasant twp. Section #28

Condition: The condition of this cemetery is not very good; there are several broken stones and some unmarked graves. It is not easily accessible, as it is back from the road and surrounded by crop land and cattle grazing. The damage in the cemetery is due in part to cattle getting through the fence that surrounds the cemetery and part to neglect. Sterner cemetery does not get the best of care, but some mowing does get done. It has been many years since any burials have taken place, and several years have passed since anyone has gone there to place memorials.

This record will contain what information Miles E. and Helen J. Bacon could obtain when they were there to record it, in April of 1971, in addition to the information contained in the WPA work done prior to 1940.

This work is courtesy of: Wapello County Chapter of the Iowa Genealogical Society.

Manly J. Blanchard was born in South Carolina April 16, 1812. I do not know if there were any brothers or sisters but there were some. Brothers and sisters by his father's first wife. They moved to Eymanson County Kentucky when he was yet a small boy. There he grew to manhood. He married when he was 25 years old to Elizabeth Hill his father-in-law had a falling out he left home about 1832. His half brother and his brother-in-law were coming to Iowa to buy cheap land. He joined them. They came to Iowa about 1832 or 1833. The land where Keosauqua now is. Brought up on it. Sold out. Came to Wappalo County bought 40 1/2 a of land between Blountsburg and the Eldridge. Now the Ciltner Farm. There he raised his family.
